OUR DEDICATION

MR. BERNARD E. KUENY

The Class of 1982 is proud to dedicate its Yearbook to Mr. Bernard Kueny.

A graduate of the Class of 1953, Mr. Kueny attended St. Joseph's College from which he graduated in 1957. While a student in college Gus began to help the Prep as an assistant coach of Football. In September of 1957, Mr. Kueny became a full time teacher of Mathematics and thereby began a career which has spanned twenty-five years. In that time Prep students have profitted enormously from contact with this dedicated son of Ignatius. A partial list of Gus' titles over the years reflects his achievements: Varsity Football Coach, Bookstore Manager, Moderator of the Honor Society, Founder of The Lay Teachers' Club, Chairman of the Planning and Curriculum Committee, Director of Alumni, Executive Administrative Assistant, Assistant Headmaster.

No matter what title Gus Kueny has held in the Prep, his constituents have seen him as a unique blend of method, patience and persistence. Gus is a man of action as well as a man of deep conviction. He is sparing but not superficial, generous but not imprudent, precise but not presumptuous. To any member of the Class of 1982, Gus Kueny represents the confluence of the qualities which produce greatness.

While the proud father of three sons Gus has supervised a multimillion dollar budget in a school which was built as a result of the Captial Fund Drive which he coordinated. To thousands of Alumni, Gus is the link to their Prep. His efforts have been responsible for the continual raising of contributions to the school. While he works with such energy and devotion, Mr. Kueny has never lost his touch in the classroom where today his A.P. Calculus course remains both popular and challenging. We, the members of the Class of 1982, have been truly touched by Mr. Kueny's example of Christianity shown in his selfless service to fellow man and are happy to single him out for recognition in this manner.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

Dear Graduates of 1982:

For many of us it is difficult to believe that this academic year is completed. But you have looked forward to this day often, and you have made plans which are filled with hopes and dreams. Today your thoughts of fulfillment are bound only by self imposed limits. As time moves on, however, you will come to realize that many of the things you wanted most will never come to be. A time may even come when you wonder if you have been successful, if your life has made a difference, if you have performed any act of deep and lasting significance.

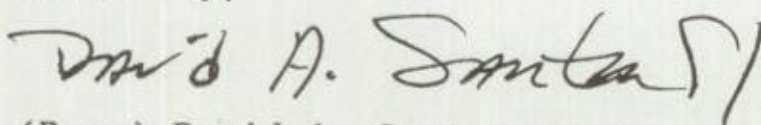

In the twelfth chapter of Luke's Gospel, Jesus tells his followers that their hearts are where the treasures are. We seek after those things which are most important to us. Consequently, success is determined by the attainment of that thing which is most important to us. Some people make youth and beauty their treasure, but both will pass. Some make fame and prestige their treasure, but they are ephemeral. Some make wealth their treasure, but what does it profit a person to gain the whole world and suffer the loss of his soul? The Prep has tried to tell and show you that a truly successful life is a life of service to God through service to His people, our brothers and sisters. We hope you have taken that message to heart, and we hope and pray that you will indeed see service as the purpose of life.

Service to God through the people who touch your life each day, who come to you in need of money, of security, of love, of comfort, of consolation, of food, of shelter, or whatever, will bring true fulfillment. If you seek with all your heart to do the will of God in your life as He reveals Himself to you, you will always be successful. You will have a peace which the world cannot give, and you will have a happiness no one can take from you. God will never ask you how much money you made, or how many people stepped out of your way as you walked down the street, or how many lives you ruled. He will ask you, however, how well you served His people.

As you leave the Prep, we wish you success and happiness. We hope and pray that you will listen to God's voice in your life, that you will seek to serve Him with all your heart. We hope that you never experience failure; we hope your heart is always pure and seeks what is right.

May God bless you in all your endeavors, keep you close to Himself, and fill you with His love and peace.

Sincerely,

(Rev.) David A. Sauter, S.J.
President

OUR PRESIDENT

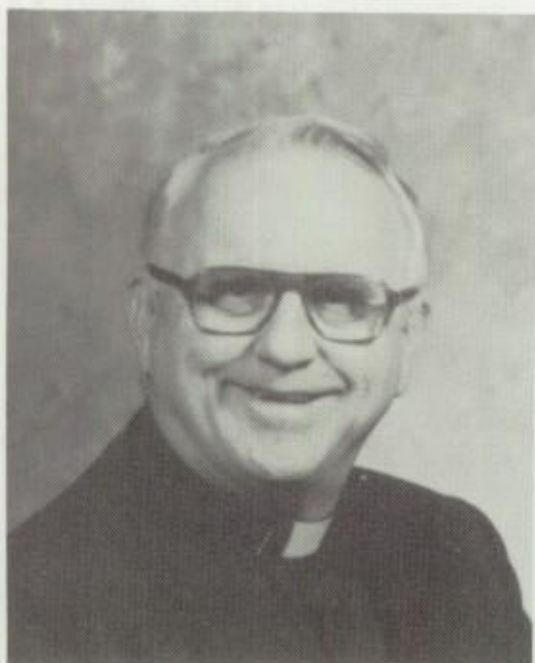

Rev. David A. Sauter, S.J.

In February of 1981 the Prep community was shocked by the sudden and unforeseen resignation of Rev. Milton Jordan, S.J. Father Jordan had been the Prep's President and Headmaster for the past four years. His departure left more than an empty office. The search for a new President lasted through several months of prayer and expectation. Finally came the announcement that Rev. David A. Sauter was to be the Prep's new leader.

As of August 31, 1981, Father Sauter brought to the Prep a vision, a determination and a sincerity. These qualities had been shaped by his nine years as the Headmaster of Georgetown Preparatory School and his many years of scholarly research which gave him three Masters Degrees from such schools as Columbia for Curriculum Design and Loyola of Chicago for English. Father Sauter as an educator as well as an administrator, also managed to find time in his busy schedule to serve on the Board of Trustees of St. Joseph's Preparatory School.

Almost from his first day at the Prep Father Sauter has put forth a sincere effort to promote unity among the various elements of the Prep community - administration, faculty, students, parents, alumni. His efforts have indeed met with much success. The involvement, the dedication and the open sincerity of our new President have set an example to which we, the Class of 1982, may look with a genuine sense of admiration. Father Sauter is clearly in the Ignatian tradition, a "Man for Others."

MOTHERS' CLUB

The Student Mothers' Club plays a vital role within the Prep family. The primary purpose of the Mothers' Club is to encourage and promote friendly understanding and cooperation between the faculty and parents, to act as a liaison between students and teachers, and through social events, to provide monies to augment the Scholarship Fund for deserving young men, and to aid in making school improvements. The Club carries out all of these tasks admirably well, as is shown by their raising of $400,000 over the last 10 years.

Under the direction of Mrs. Eileen Park, the 42nd president, and Bro. Michael T. Mulroe, the Mothers' Club technically consists of every student's mother, even though many do not take an active role. Included in the busy schedule are the Homecoming, Days of Recollection, and the Mother and Son Mass. The club truly helps to mold the shape of the Prep.

FATHERS' CLUB

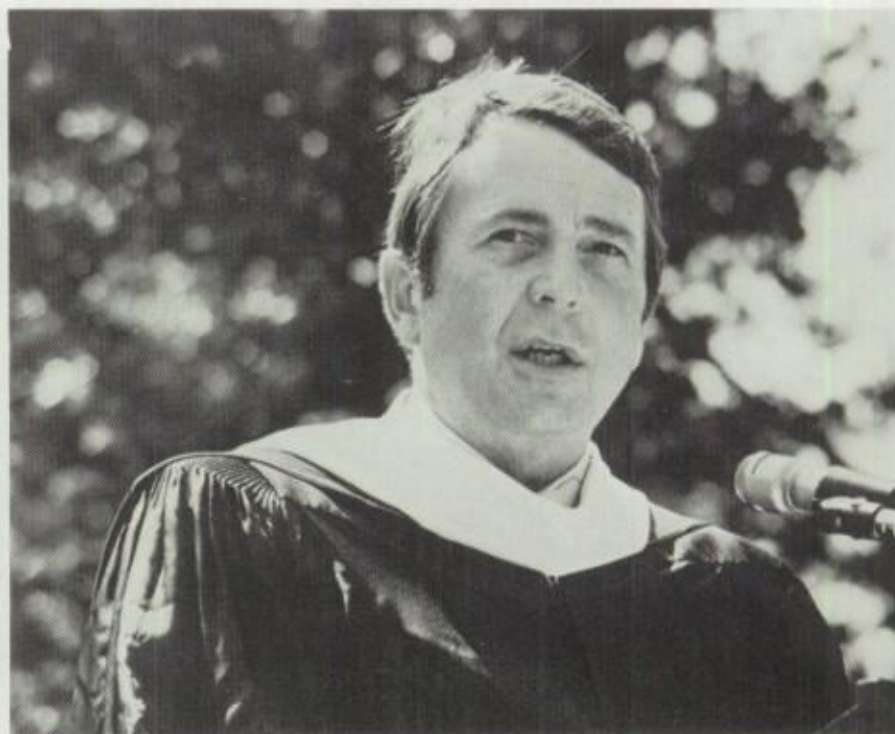

The Fathers' Club is an important aspect in the overall life of the Prep. The primary function of the club has been to provide tuition for any Prep student whose father passes away during the school year. The club raises some of the needed revenue through the sale of program booklets and food at various sporting events throughout the year. An individual membership fee and a patron drive also contribute to the treasury of the Fathers' Club.

Under the innovative direction of Mr. Eugene Szymkowiak, the club's enthusiastic president, and the moderator, Rev. Michael French, S.J., the club meets once a month to plan for upcoming events. Members also have the opportunity to socialize, and on occasion, to listen to guest speakers, such as coaches and faculty connected with the Prep. The club's two major social events of the year are the Freshman Father and Son Night and the Fathers' Club Social, a dinner dance held every year in February. The Fathers' Club is certainly an essential element of the Prep tradition.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Alumni Association, thanks to the direction of Mr. Gus Kueny, the Alumni Moderator, and the dedication of its members, plays an important role in the Prep today. Their untiring efforts have helped advance the religious, educational, and athletic interests of the Prep. With great dedication the officers and class representatives are devoted to preserving and enhancing the tradition of the Prep institution. We want to acknowledge the loyal support of the Alumni and express our gratitude for their efforts. We look forward to joining them as grateful alumni of St. Joseph's Prep.

FACULTY

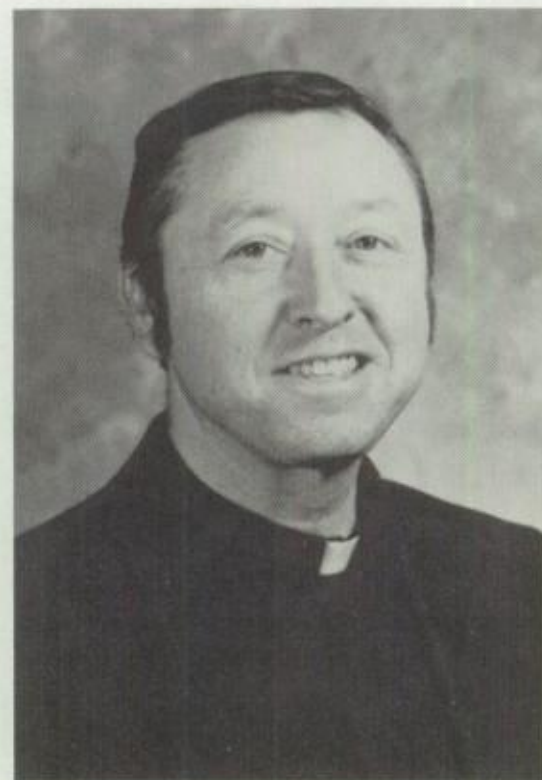

Classics

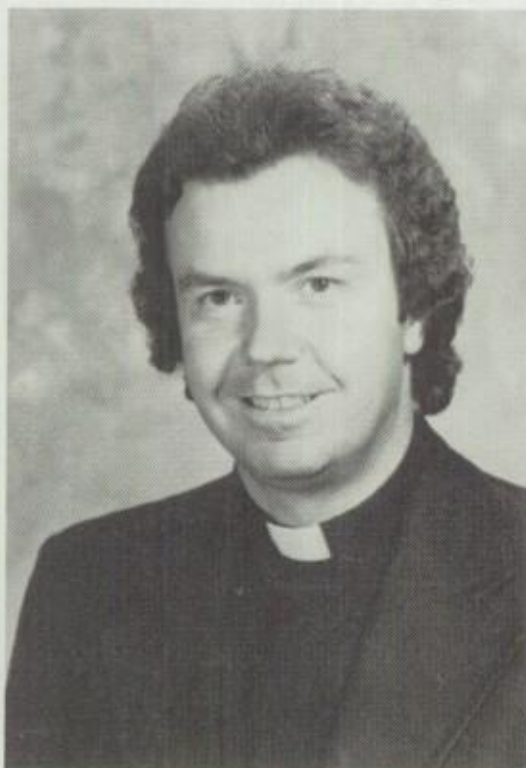

Through a sequence of courses and electives in Latin, Greek, and related studies, the Classics Department hopes to foster an appreciation for classical thought and ideals, which have long formed the basis of Jesuit education. Elementary courses in Latin and Greek provide insight into the origins of English Grammar and composition. Through the study of Latin vocabulary and word structure, the student is trained in logical thought and clarity of expression. This training is the basis of the discipline needed for study in any advanced academic field. In addition, study of the classics greatly improves the student's vocabulary.

Later courses in Latin expose the student to various genres of Latin literature, from Caesar's "Gallic Wars" to the epic poetry of Vergil's "Aeneid". The two-year Advanced Placement Greek program continues this concept, and also exposes the student to the fundamentals of Hellenistic thought. The Advanced Placement Vergil program provides opportunity for college credit, based on the student's performance on standardized achievement tests. The student may also elect to explore a seminar program in the classics, or even a course in Classical Archaeology.

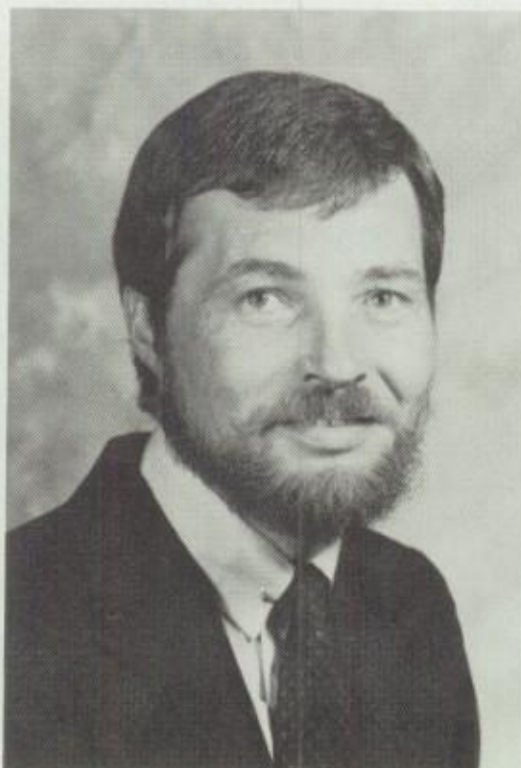

Among themselves, the faculty members of the Classics Department have more than eighty years of teaching experience. In addition to helping the student in his academic formation, they also maintain a close rapport with them in all aspects of education at the Prep. Many are counselors; still others are involved in numerous extra-curricular activities. They are truly a dedicated group of professionals whose primary purpose is the total development of the Prep and its students.

English

The English Department of St. Joseph's Preparatory School is organized for a two-fold purpose; first, to introduce the student to English literature, in order to give him an understanding and an appreciation of the artistic history of the western world; second, to develop clear means of expression for the student, both oral and written.

The English program encompasses four required years of study. Starting in Freshman year, grammar and composition are reviewed and the student is introduced to new methods of writing and testing. In Sophomore year, the emphasis is upon more advanced material. Students are taught the mechanics of term papers and are exposed to public speaking and critical analyses of literature. Works studied include a broad survey of English and American literature in many different genres.

Junior and Senior years concentrate on American, and later, English literature, along with more advanced forms of written expression. These two years feature the Advanced Placement English Program, a two year sequence for students who have shown the aptitude and the dedication to do college level work.

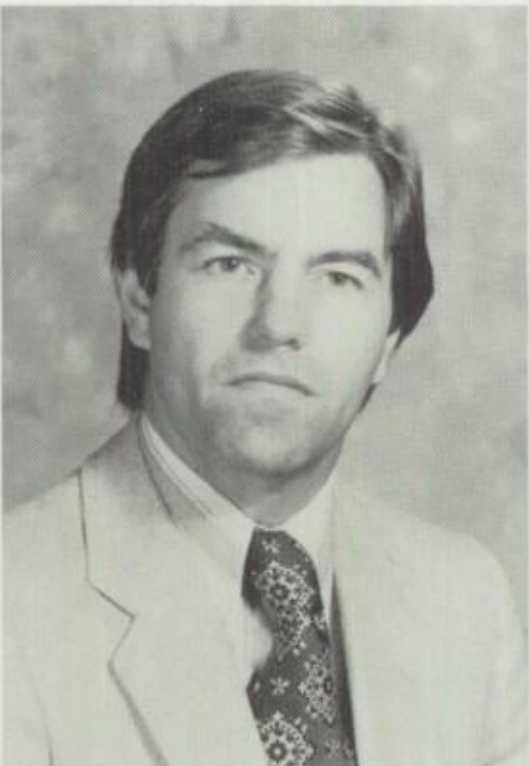

The dedicated faculty of the English Department is ready to make use of the enormous library of written and video-tape material available for classroom use. It attempts to integrate an interdisciplinary approach to the teaching of English by taking events and thoughts from the outside world and discussing their meaning and relation to the student. All of the Department's faculty teach in a manner which is specifically designed to assist the student in improving his ability to express himself in other academic areas. Altogether, the faculty of the English Department tries to make the student aware of himself through the study of humanity as reflected in literature, and to express that self to the world about him.

Studio Art

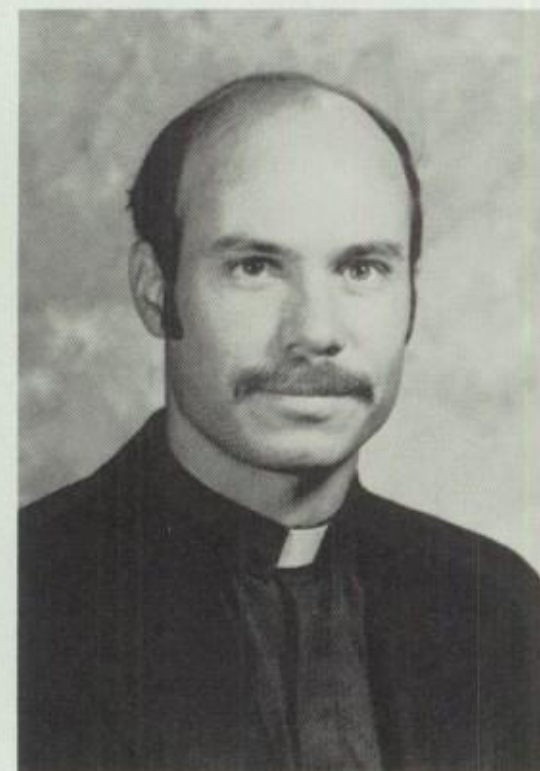

The Fine Arts Program is designed to make the Prep graduate a well-rounded individual; one who is aware of the Arts, their history, and their place in his own culture. All Freshman are exposed to the arts through semester courses in studio art and music, which prepare him for a study in the related fields of the Liberal Arts on the collegiate level. Particular to the Freshman program is emphasis on art appreciation and art history, study which will benefit the student even if he should not choose to pursue a career in the arts.

For the student with a deeper interest in art, the Fine Arts Department offers individualized programs of study in Studio Art and Instrumental Music in Sophomore and Junior years. There are also Senior year electives.

In addition to the new art studio and its

Christian Service

For the past four years, the Christian Service Program, under the direction of Rev. James R. Conroy, S.J., has attempted to narrow the gap between the Prep and its surroundings. The Prep Senior benefits from practical exposure to the call of Christian charity and service to one's fellow man. Many Seniors serve in area institutions such as St. John's Hospice and help the less fortunate children city-wide through the Pre-Prep Tutoring Program. Through these and other such programs, the community gains the opportunity to see the Jesuit ideal of "The Man for Others" in action.

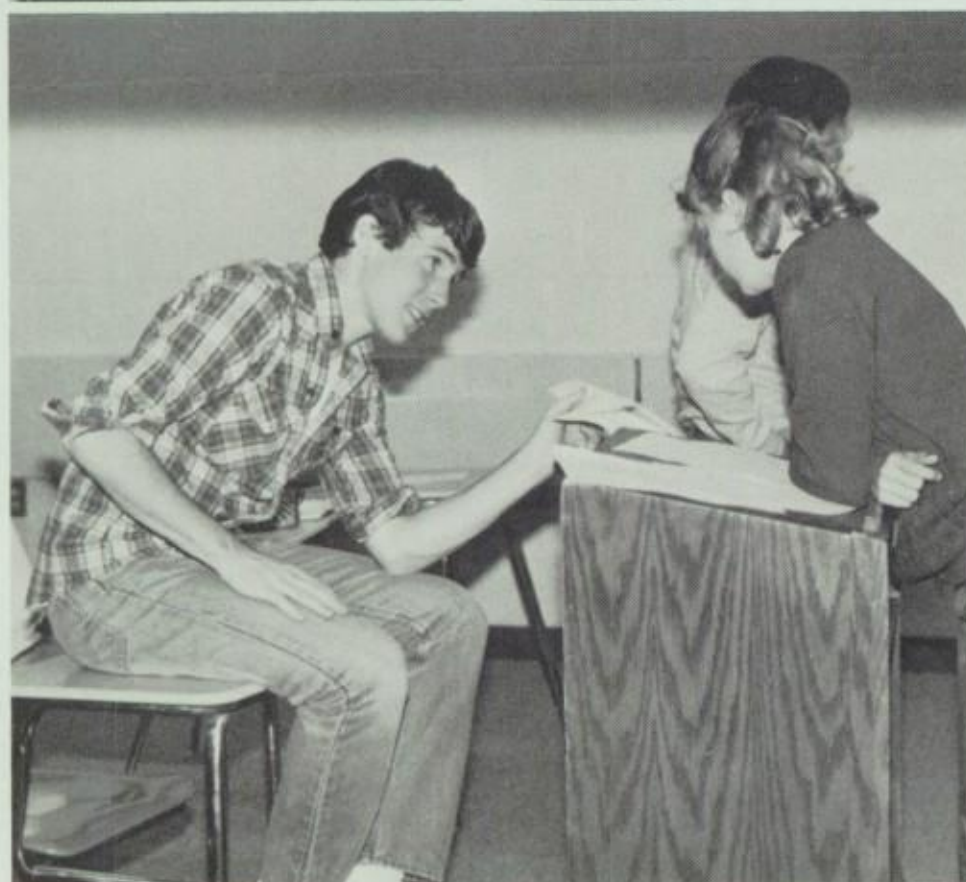

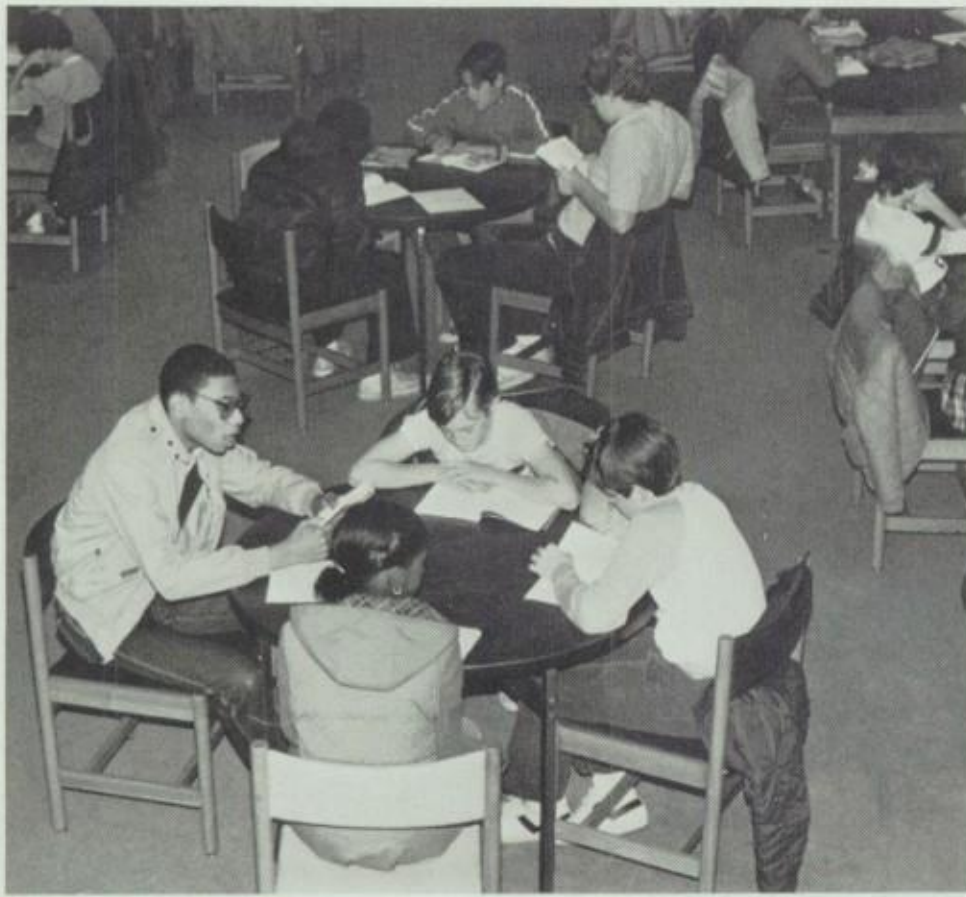

Rev. James J. Conroy, S.J., A.B., M. Div.

resources, the department has the use of the bandroom and its facilities, along with the art collection of the Student's Library. The regular course curriculum is supplemented with field trips to many of the museums and galleries in the Philadelphia metropolitan area.

The Freshman is also introduced to the many available facilities our library has to offer. He discovers the extensive collection of books, microfilm, filmstrips and records accessible to both students and faculty alike.

Continuing in the tradition of "mens sana in sano corpore", the Prep's Physical Education program gives students a basic knowledge of sports, a chance to participate in them, and also a sense of achievement.

Mathematics

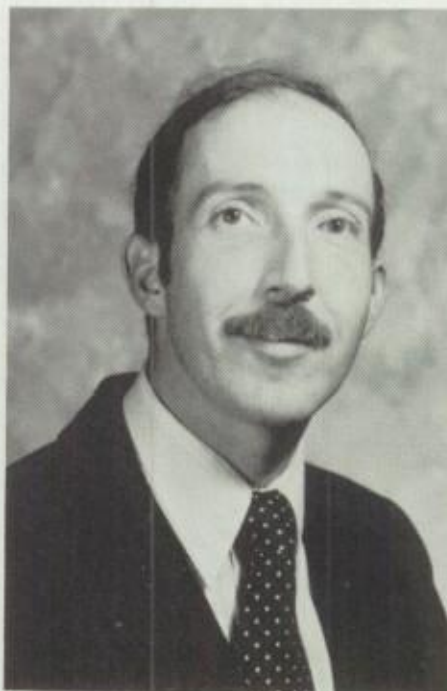

The Mathematics Department structures its course curriculum around preparation for higher mathematics, as found on the collegiate level. But beyond mathematics itself, it strives to develop logical thinking abilities within the student and provide him with a theoretical knowledge that will serve him after graduation, even if he should not pursue further study in mathematical disciplines.

The four year requirement in math consists of Freshman year, Algebra, Sophomore year Geometry, Junior year Trigonometry and Analytical Geometry. Senior courses include Probability and Statistics, Calculus (both Advanced Placement and Regular), Computer Mathematics, and Selected Topics. The student has the chance to begin college-level work or to specialize in a particular area for technical or vocational training. Advanced Placement programs on many levels provide an opportunity for the student who excels to obtain college credit for his work at the Prep.

Except where certain specialization occurs, the Department seeks uniformity and regularity in its testing and instructional procedures. Through regular Department meetings, the progress and development of the student is monitored. Constant input to evaluate, examine, and restructure curriculum for an ever-changing student body is sought.

Although state funding applies only to textbooks, the Mathematics Department has been able to obtain many audio-visual aids for supplementing the textbook core curriculum—the most notable of which is the Challenger II Computer which is currently being used in conjunction with the Senior elective in Computer Mathematics.

The faculty of the Mathematics Department is well-tenured, and known for a high degree of professionalism, as shown by both the collective number of years of post-graduate training, and by exemplary performance at the Prep; both in the classroom and in sports and extracurricular activities. Each member exhibits a true dedication to education and a concern for the total development of each student who passes through the halls of the Prep.

Modern Language

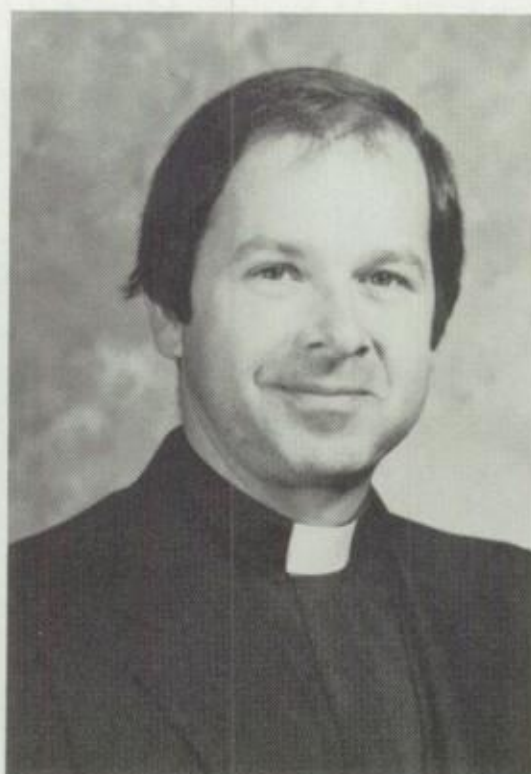

In its three year program of study in foreign language, the Modern Language Department desires to instill in the student an appreciation of a foreign culture, and an ability to converse in and read a language other than his own. Through the study of a modern language, the student learns more about the history, geography, culture, and people of the world in which he lives so that he might be able to gain insight into his own world and culture. It also provides the student with the opportunity and the skills needed for study abroad or employment in the ever-growing international job market.

In Sophomore year, the student begins the study of either French, German, or Spanish. Building upon the language foundation given him by his Freshman Latin course, the student learns basic grammar and conversational skills. He is trained both to listen and to speak; his studies are reinforced through constant practice, repetition, and frequent testing.

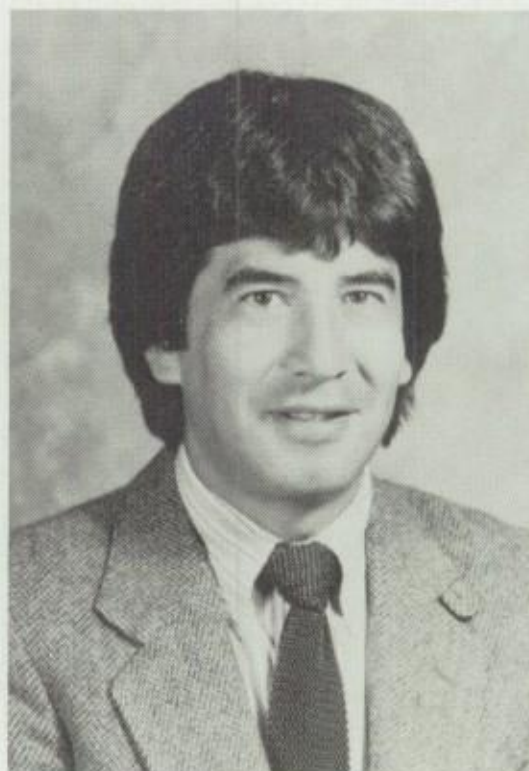

In Junior year, the student continues this instruction by increasing the amount and complexity of his reading material, vocabulary, and knowledge of customs and culture. He is also able to compete nationally with other students studying the same language through an annual test offered nationally and administered through the department.

Senior year brings a review of grammar and advanced work in literature, as well as increased conversational ability. Reading material includes both modern novels and current periodicals in the language. The regular curriculum is also supplemented by frequent films and audio-visual presentations. The student is also introduced to college-level language study and explores foreign language opportunities in business and government. The student is encouraged to use his language abilities on the practical level, particularly on educational trips and exchanges.

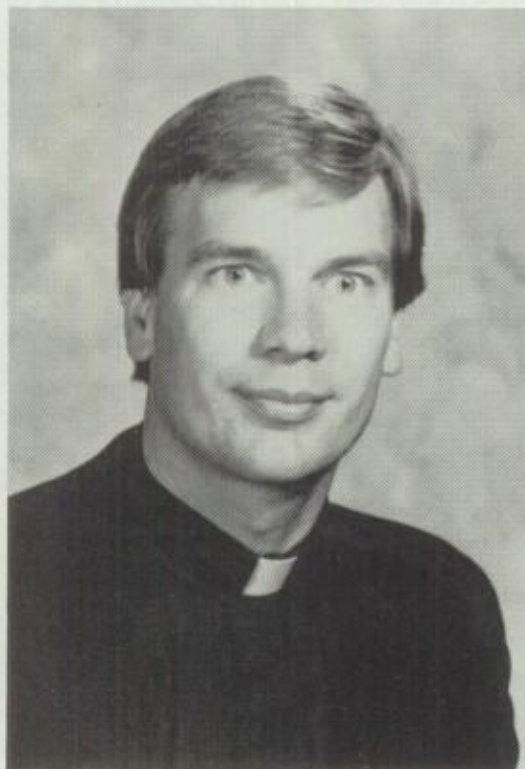

The faculty members of the Modern Language Department bring the experience of living in a foreign country with them into a classroom. Using personal resources they are able to go beyond the textbook approach to language. They instill dedication and enthusiasm into the student's study of a language other than his own as they allow him to gain an awareness of the world beyond his own place and time.

Religion

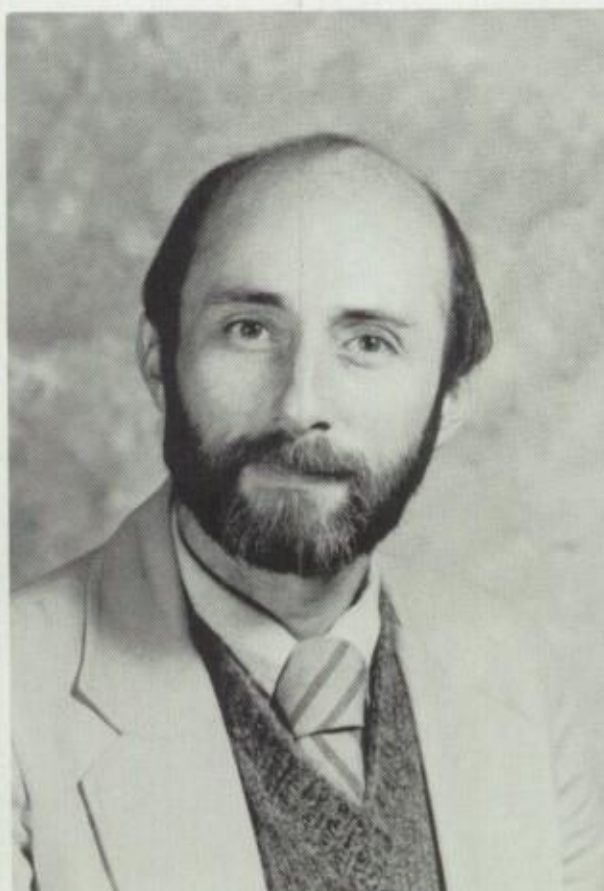

The Religious Studies Department at the Prep was designed to form an intellectual analysis of the Catholic Christian religion as it affects the student, and through the religious content of its courses, hopes to promote spiritual goals and religious maturity in the student.

Freshmen are introduced to the origins of the Christian Community through a critical analysis of Scripture and the study of Biblical interpretation and history. Sophomore year continues this development, and introduces the student to further aspects of the Faith through courses in Christology and Liturgy.

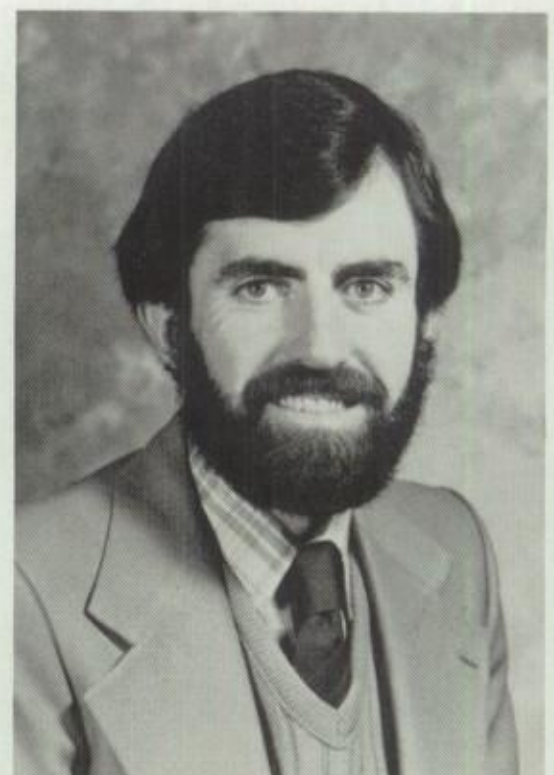

Junior year resumes the direct study of the Christian Community with a semester course in Church History, the development of the Church, its beliefs, ethics, and practices. It also seeks clarification of the present condition of the post-Vatican II Church. Also included in this year is a semester course in Christian Morality which attempts to apply the ethical teaching of Jesus Christ and his Church to the world of today. It urges the student to make practical, contemporary life decisions based on the ethical traditions of the Church.

The Senior year program consists of a course in Sexual Morality which attempts to bring the Christian moral outlook upon the student's life, and in particular, that part of the student's life which deals with his relationships with others. The other Senior elective deals with the development of his Christian faith, and its meaning to the individual student as a Christian.

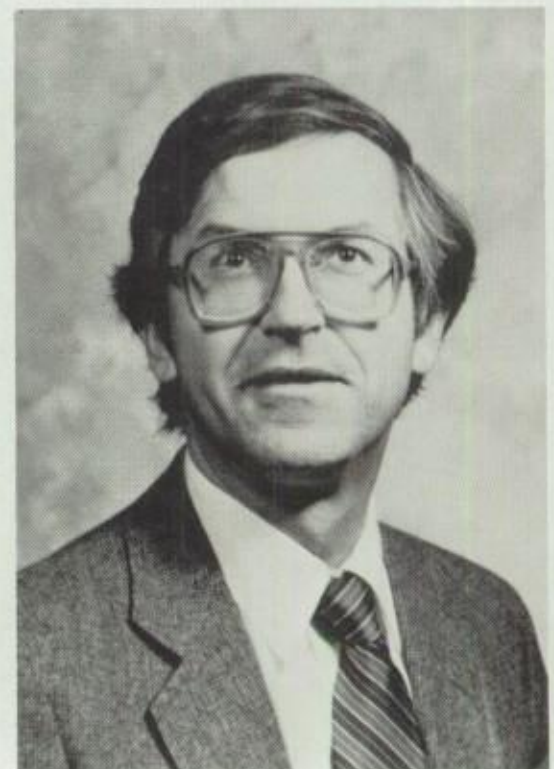

The faculty members of this Department exhibit a rare dedication to serve young people and show a genuine interest in their religious development. Their vocation to teach is further enhanced by the number and level of advanced degrees within the disciplines of Theology and Religious Education. With tremendous responsibility for the student, the faculty hopes to impart an enthusiasm for the conscious choice of religious belief and tradition.

Science

The Prep Science Department hopes to impart to all Prep students a basic knowledge of the world around them and an understanding of scientific principle. No matter what their eventual station in life, each student is required to take at least one science course, and many go on to take three or even four years of science.

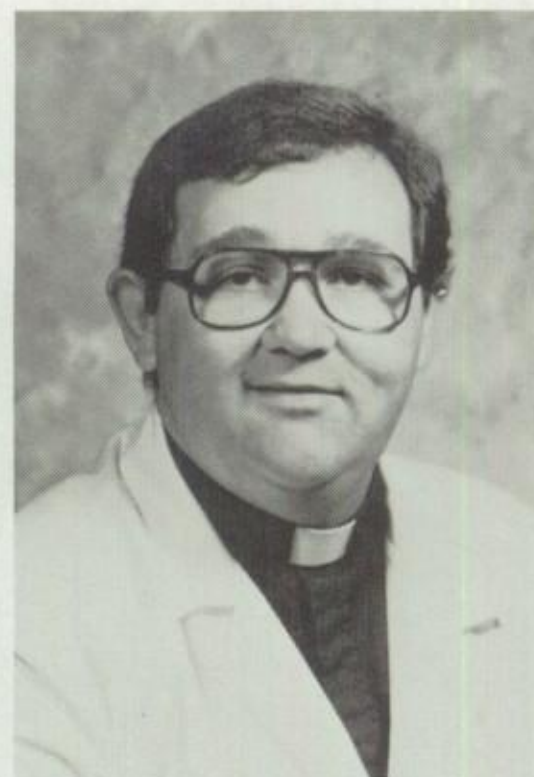

The student acquires disciplined study habits, clear thought processes, and a knack for isolating pertinent details. The curriculum also fosters the ability to work together with other students, inasmuch as it centers on teamwork in the lab.

Because of a revision in the science program three years ago, students are being introduced to the scientific disciplines through one semester of freshman introductory science. They then proceed to a program involving one year each of Biology, Chemistry, and Physics during the next three years. There is also an Advanced Placement Program for motivated students who show aptitude for college level work. This A.P. Program features three semesters each of College Chemistry and College

Physics starting with the Sophomore year.

Through frequent testing the department hopes to encourage study habits that will benefit the student, even if he should not pursue a major or career in the Sciences. In addition to the standard texts, the Science Department has acquired an impressive array of laboratory and audio-visual equipment (from air tracks to mole traps) which it often uses in class and lab to demonstrate a point visually.

The faculty of the Science Department, led by Department Chairman, Rev. Stephen Garber, S.J., who has twenty-five years of experience at the Prep, exhibits a type of dedication and knowledge seldom found on the secondary school level. It is the concern for the student that drives the members of the Department toward the goal of making each Prep alumnus an informed participant in today's increasingly scientific society.

History

The History Department is organized to promote the educational goals of critical reading, intelligent thought, clear and concise prose writing, research, and the improvement of standardized testing performance. The Department, formerly known as the Social Studies Department, has shifted its emphasis from the study of the social sciences for their own benefit, to a program in the study of history for the growth and academic development of the student. Thus the study of history is not an end unto itself but a means to an end.

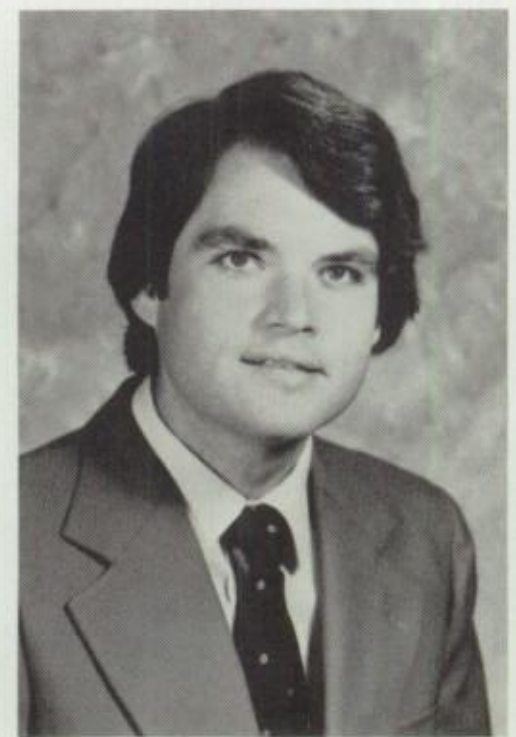

Through a required core curriculum of World History in Freshman year, American History in Sophomore year, and American Government in Junior year, the Department not only fulfills the state requirement in History, but also develops student skills in testing procedures, essay writing, and analytical thought processes. The Department introduces the student to term papers in the Junior year which teach the art of effective and organized research of a given topic and the expression of that research in a clear and concise paper.

For the serious student of history, the Department offers several Senior electives in Modern American and Modern European History. Also available to the student are Advanced Placement courses with limited admission and college level standards, applicable to college credit in the annual Advanced Placement Tests offered in May. In addition, the Department offers an introduction to the social sciences through its course in American Government and the Political Seminar course of Senior year.

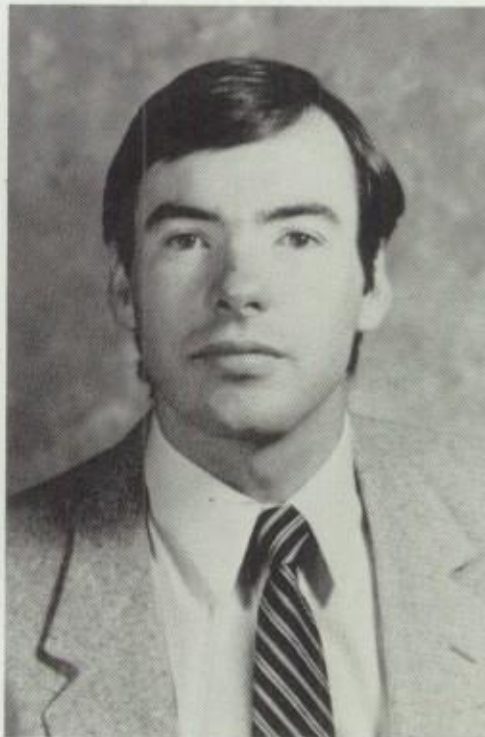

The History Department receives the majority of its printed resources from the State of Pennsylvania, but supplements this with additional texts plus a wide assortment of audio-visual aids. The Prep Library provides both the student and the teacher with a vast amount of research and resource material. The faculty of the History Department is dedicated to the development of the student, not only in the classroom, but also in athletics, counseling, and extra-curricular activities with its diversified and active faculty. The agreement on objectives that is found in this Department clearly shows the faculty's willingness to dedicate itself to the student and to his development as an academically capable individual.

NATIONAL MERIT SEMI- FINALISTS

In September of 1981 seventeen Prep students from the class of 1982 were named as Semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Competition. This is the highest number of Prep students to be so named since the inception of the program over a generation ago, and it represents the highest percentage of Semifinalists from any school in the Delaware Valley.

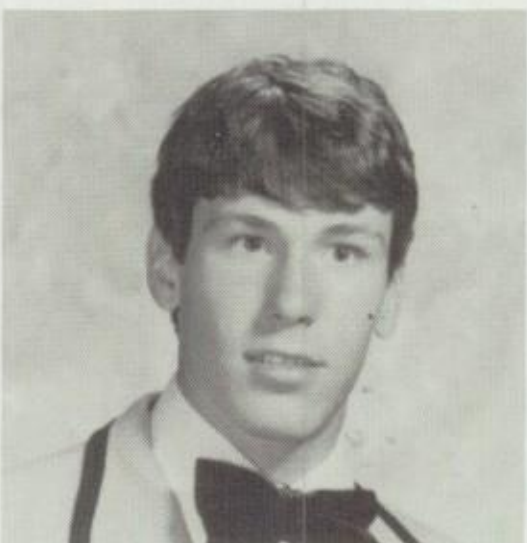

The Semifinalists were chosen as a result of their performance on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test administered at the Beginning of Junior year. Semifinalists have the opportunity to continue in the National Merit Competition, which announces the names of approximately 90% of the Semifinalists who have been promoted to Finalist Status in the early spring. Finalists are able to compete for a limited number of Merit Scholarships and Grants for their college education.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

This October, members of the Class of 1982 were inducted into the Joseph A. Mattern Chapter of the National Honor Society. To qualify for this honor, students must be in the top quintile of their class as measured by the Quality Point Average computed at the end of Junior year covering three years of academic achievement.

In addition to excellence in the classroom, the members of the National Honor Society also exhibit great pride in their school and great dedication to many aspects of life at the Prep. They also show the maturity and the great moral character that mark those who have been awarded this high academic honor. Under the direction of Mr. Jerome Taylor, the moderator of the Chapter, the students of the Honor Society continue to accent the high caliber of the Prep.

If we value
The pursuit of knowledge,

Wherever that search

Given us by nature,
It is not she alone,
But fortune with her,
Which makes heroes.

Each one as before
Will chase his Favorite dream.

Tomorrow is for those
Who are too afraid
To go past yesterday
And start living for today.

Destiny is not
A matter of chance;
It is a matter of choice.

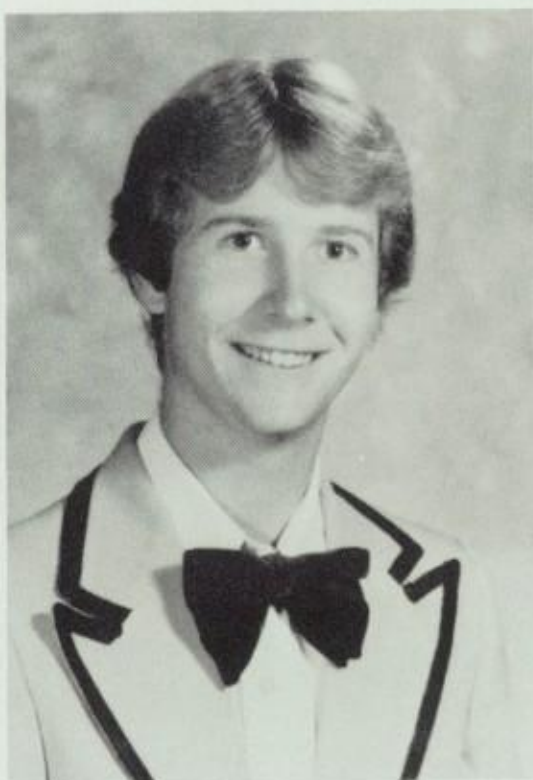

What I do today
Is important because I am exchanging
A day of my life for it.

Any man's greatest Achievement is to Understand himself

AND I WILL MOVE THE WORLD ...

There is something special about being a Junior. The third year at the Prep brings with it a set of anxieties which are unmatched in their variety or in their depth. From playing fields to chess playing, from breaking books to busting the boards (SAT), the Junior is an assailed creature. He is in a state of being "almost" there. What he has seen has given him knowledge, what he looks to, gives him great expectations. The Prep has touched him in every way.

Facing continued coursework in English, Religious and Social Studies, Archaeology, Greek, Chemistry, Mathematics, and Modern Language, the third year man cannot rest upon the laurels of his freshman or sophomore year, but must be equal to the demands placed upon his mind, his spirit, and his soul. He must belong. He must share. He must mature.

The excellence of his self expectations is tested again by the PSAT and the SAT, by Driver Education, by Student Council, by the Junior Prom, in every arena of endeavor at the Prep. At the close of Junior Year the student knows full well the traditions of his Prep, the dedication of his faculty and administration and awaits the transition into the exalted world of the Senior.

SOPHOMORES

IN THE DEFEAT OF FOLLY ...

For the student of sophomore year, many things are not new; many faces are familiar. Latin, Mathematics, English, and Religious Studies continue in greater depth, while there are new challenges in new subjects. In the field of science, to many the world of biology is opened; to others, the complexities of chemistry are revealed. In the field of modern language, the sophomore may study the basics and cultures of Spanish, French or German. Students seriously interested in linguistics may begin the study of ancient Greek.

Inherent in this array of academic choices is the need, more pronounced than before, for the student to apply himself. The sophomore takes the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT), which is his first standardized and nationalized test. The faculty concentrates its efforts towards motivating the student to achieve and to develop what talents emerged during his Freshman year.

Sophomore year is fundamentally a year of discovery. Not only does this take place in the mind of the student but it also finds expression on the level of his involvement with the Prep. With a greater sense of who he is and what he may accomplish, the boy deepens his values and his commitment to do and to be more.

FRESHMAN

MUST BEGIN WITH A SINGLE STEP ...

Each September a new class of Freshmen is introduced to the Prep and begins four years of secondary education in the Jesuit tradition. Academically, the Freshman pursues the study of Latin, Algebra, and English as well as the arts, sciences, and social studies.

In addition to academics, he has the opportunity to participate in both athletic and non-athletic extracurriculars. In the context of these activities, the freshman develops friendships with students from various areas and backgrounds. It is these friendships which foster such traditions of the Prep as the Mass of the Holy Spirit, the Father-Son Night, the Homecoming, and the Crimson and Gray Day.

While much emphasis is placed upon the role of tradition, the student becomes an individual under the guidance and direction of an informed faculty. The teachers in freshman year form a team. Their goal is the formation of sound study habits, desire for knowledge and above all, an abiding respect for God. Chosen but challenged, suprised but not suppressed, the freshman develops values which carry him through his Prep years.

SPORTS

A SEASON OF

The 1981 Football season began with a promise of greatness. There were twenty-two returning seniors each of whom had been raised over four years on the offensive and defensive alignments of a sound and stable coaching staff. With experience, stamina, and depth in many skilled positions, the 1981 version of the Prep Football team figured to be one of the best in recent history. There were dreams of the Title, the Vet, the Championship. But there were realities which refused to be transformed into illusions.

At the start of the season there was tremendous optimism and expectation. This was the year. The Prep running attack was well balanced on the legs of Mike Burnetta, Joe Griffith, and Mike Sheldon. Juniors Ken Rivers and Clayton Carlin also ran the ball well. The offensive line anchored by Jim Knowles showed good strength and agility while defensively the Prep appeared sound. At quarterback the team was lead at first by senior Matt Brannau who later used his great skills as a wide receiver and end for the Prep while Rich Gannon assumed the quarterback slot.

While this team was hurt by injury and penalties, no defeats, disappointments, or mistakes can mar the day in November when the Prep eleven defeated the eventual Southern Division Champion Cardinal O'Hara. That was the Prep's finest game in which offense and defense combined for a virtually flawless forty minutes when all team members showed both the character and talent which they could muster. While the overall record may cause a frown, the dedication of the coaching staff and their sincere interest in the overall well-being of their charges will always bring a proud smile to any countenance. And there is always next year.

He needs a deodorant that works overtime.

Look Mom, I caught it!

SOCCER:

A TIME OF TRIUMPH

Soccer this year began with a question mark. Many Seniors of 1981 had gone on to college leaving the Prep in the posture of a rebuilding year. But once again, as in the past, Coach Murray pulled together a volatile, dedicated, and competitive team which posted 12 wins and 2 ties against only 5 losses. This was a team that knew togetherness, a team that knew sacrifice, and a team that fought its way to the playoffs. Their hard play, furious shots on goal, and relentless attack upon the opponent will long remain in the mind and heart of all who watched this season come down to one goal.

BASKETBALL

NEW COACH

The Prep's basketball teams of 1981-1982 are under the supervision of Mr. John Ostick. As a new coach and teacher, Mr. Ostick brings to the game familiarity with Catholic League style of play, varsity coaching experience, and an abiding concern for each of his players. Mr. Ostick seeks to develop in his players not just their individual basketball skills but also a depth of character.

Practices show a level of exercise which stresses the mental as well as physical aspects of the sport. Sharp passing, driving lay-ups, and well timed jump shots are just as characteristic of this year's team as are their defensive alignments. From a Matching Zone to a blistering Man-to-Man the Prep's defense comfortably adjusted to the many offenses of Southern Division competition. Offensively the Prep was led by its Seniors John Klemick and Keith Coleman while all members of the squad showed high levels of participation and support. The season's success surely reflected a team effort!

SWIMMING

The Prep Swim Team of 1981-1982 has brought a new spirit to their sport. Dedicated, hard working, determined team members have grown rapidly into a competitive group which can not be taken lightly by its foes. Coach John Williams communicates a contagious enthusiasm to each of his charges. His gentle voice, soft spoken mannerisms, and generally quiet and calm demeanor always encourage the swimmer.

The presence of Coach Steve Floyd was also felt. More effort was put forth to meet the individual training needs of each swimmer. Reorganized training sessions included some unusual exercises such as advanced ladder climbing. The better conditioning of the team, their vital enthusiasm, the support of both student and faculty as well as by their ever-loyal parents surely contributed to the notable successes which this year's team enjoyed.

CREW: A SPORT FOR ALL SEASONS

A look in the dictionary reveals the definition of "crew" as "a group involved in working together." For the meaning of Crew at the Prep such a definition is a great understatement. Over two hundred students actively participate in this sport at the Prep. It is a non-contact sport which demands of its participants virtually fanatic devotion.

Winter finds the halls of the Prep on all floors crowded with after school calisthenics. This closely supervised exercise period is then followed by laps around the track, refreshing races up and down various flights of stairs, or scenic, twelve mile, outdoor jogging excursions. Part of the winter physical preparation is early morning swimming. Devoted crew members venture to the Prep pool at six in the morning to begin the pursuit of one hundred laps.

Late in February the river opens. As fragments of crusty ice flow down the river, reminders of harsh winter, Prep boats may be seen dotting the river in a bewildering array. The on-the-water portion of Crew is then in full sweep. Off-water work, including weightlifting, runing of hills in the park, and the infamous loop, continues through March and into the warmth of April.

The Easter break always has a special meaning for the Crew team - double practices combining intense on- and off- the water training. During this time, the University of Pennsylvania permits our students to train in its specially equipped tanks. Apprentice oarsmen spend many hours there under the watchful eyes of their coaches.

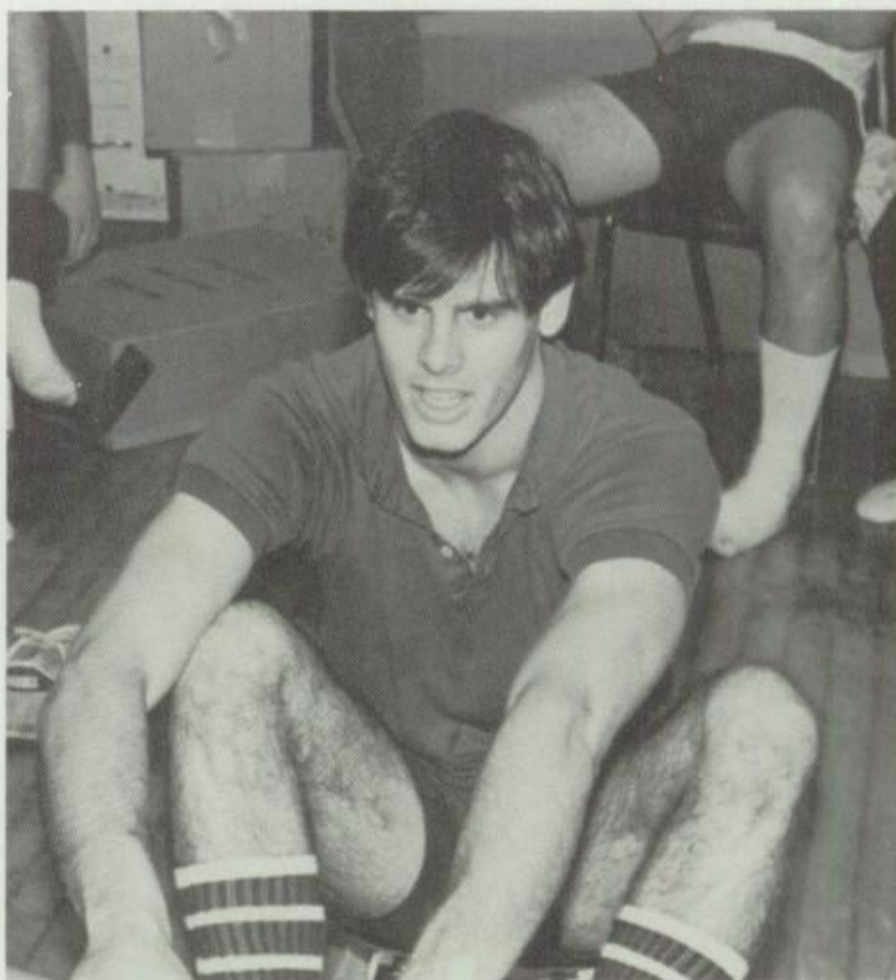

Head Coach Chuck Crawford and his able assistants have produced many successes not the least of which is the growing popularity of Crew among Prep students. Supported by loyal, enthusiastic, and generous parents, the Prep Crew team and its coaches anticipate another year of victories in regattas from Philadelphia to England.

CROSS COUNTRY

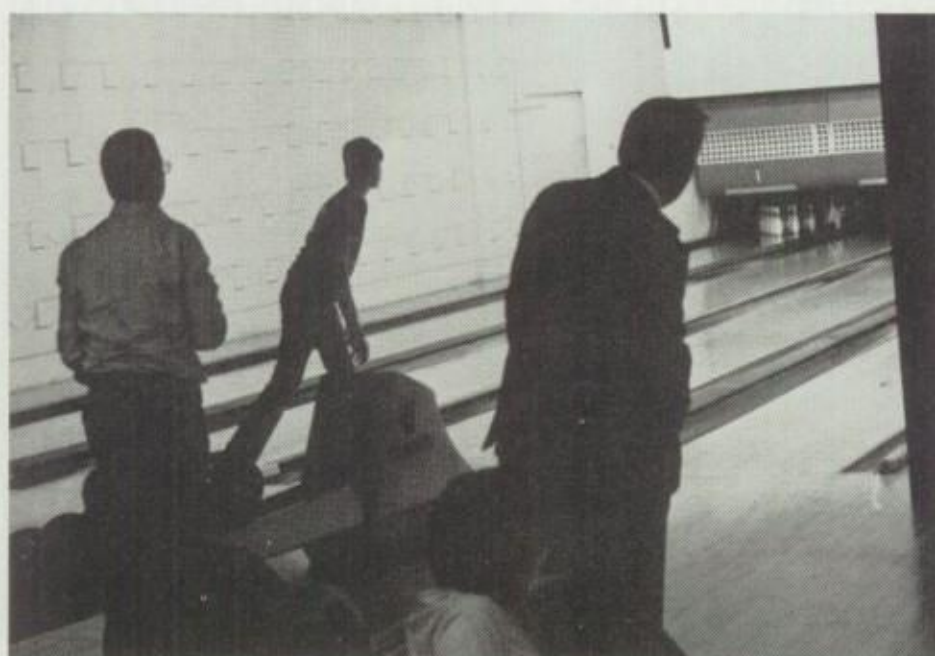

Cross-Country is a sport which requires courage and determination. The painful practices and monotonous distance runs become more unbearable as the season rolls along. Participation in the races is the only reward for the long grueling practices. The Prep's team answered this challenge by posting a 16-3 Catholic League record. The team was lead by senior co-captains Matt Smith and Ed Sweeney. It boasted three All-Catholics this season: Ed Sweeney, Matt Smith, and sophomore sensation Mike Hennessy. The rest of the varsity squad consisted of Dan Snowden, Gerry Goldner, Rich Wegryn, and Tom Zaleski. Other seniors on the team included Jim Bennett, Tom Gannon, and Larry Fitzhenry. Special recognition should be given to head coach Mr. Tony Farrell and assistant coach Mr. Curt Cockenberg for their valuable guidance and inspiration.

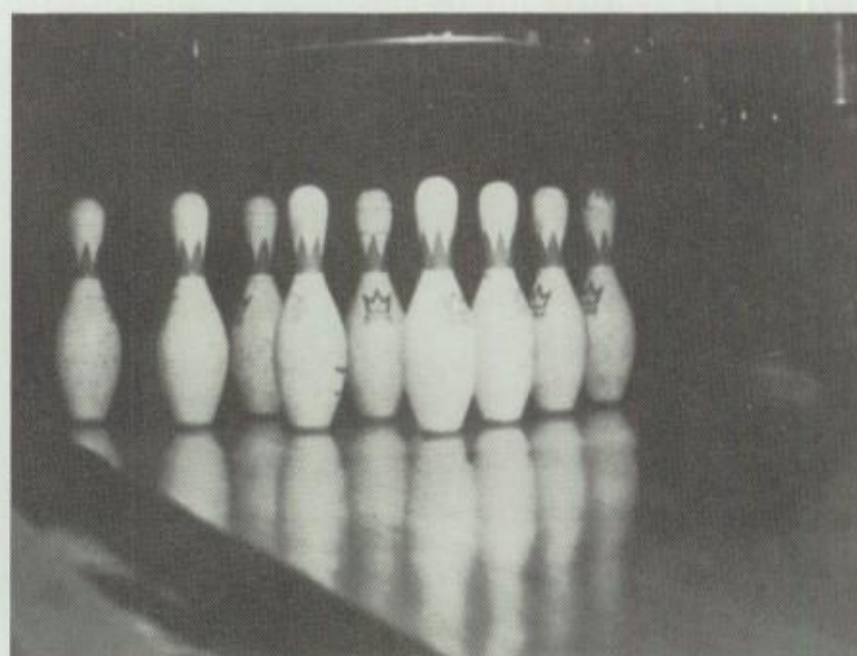

BOWLING

Bowling at the Prep is a sport which has in recent years brought considerable attention to the school. After championship years, the team has progressed through various stages of rebuilding. As Coach Dugan is fond of saying, "it is a sport in which on every roll, the odds are ten to one against you." Requirements for success in this sport, besides patience, include pride, persistence, and an ability to stay on your toes.

WEIGHT ROOM

The Weight Room provides students the opportunity to work on special programs in physical training. The equipment, consisting of free weights, a universal gym, and several variable resistance exercise machines, has become a physical fitness laboratory for many students.

The extensive apparatus permits the student to train for a particular sport in a manner best suited to his individual development needs. Mr. Kendall Mattern serves as faculty liaison for the use of this asset most vital to all phases of the Prep's sports program.

ACTIVITIES

STUDENT COUNCIL

An activity often taken for granted is Student Council. This year, under the direction of Moderators Mr. Al Zimmerman and Mr. Bruce Bidinger, S.J., the Council inaugurated some changes. The Executive Board makes up the basic ruling body with the whole council as a congress.

Among other things, the Council created the Alfresco Senior Lounge and organized the donation of blood to the Red Cross.

This year's Executive Committee consisted of:

President — Brian Daly

Vice-President — James Molinari

Treasurer — John Klemick

Secretary — Joseph Griffith

We've hit the big time now!

STUDENT COUNCIL ACTIVITIES

GAMING CLUB

In the third year since its founding the Gaming Club has grown and evolved in many ways. The most major of these was change in its name from the old Wargaming Club to its present name. The club really has two facets, one of these is the fantasy role playing games which include both Dungeons & Dragons and Traveller, the other is the strategic wargaming division which concentrates mainly on Avalon Hill bookcase games such as Squad Leader and Starship Troopers. Since its establishment three years ago, the club's membership has grown to nearly 30 actively participating members. The dungeonmasters who lead the various campaigns are as follows: John Steitz - Advanced Dungeons and Dragons, Martin Hoffman and Michael Clifford - Traveller, and John Holmes - Basic Dungeons and Dragons. The Gaming Club, along with the Model Railroading Club, is financed by individual donations from the members and contributions from Student Council. The club has caught on at the Prep along with thousands of other high schools and colleges in the country, hopefully the Prep's involvement in this new national pastime will continue in the following years.

MODEL RAILROADING CLUB

The Model Railroading Club at the Prep is a unique activity that gives students interested in building a model railroad layout but who have neither the time, the money, or the expertise to do it alone, a chance to do so while at the same time having fun, meeting new friends, and discovering some of their own hidden talent. The club was organized three years ago and since then has grown steadily in membership and enthusiasm. It was founded by Zenon Feszczak who is now a junior and still serves as the acting president of the organization. Upon its founding the club set out to build a layout from scratch in the Physics Lab of the old Prep building. Since then the track laying has almost been completed and work on the scenery is set to begin shortly. The Model Railroading Club has indeed been a pioneering activity in that it was the first time since the establishment of the Photo Club that a popular hobby received its own club at the Prep.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club offers interested students the chance to work closely with the Prep's resident Einstein, Rev. Stephen Garber, S.J. Club activities range from the tedium of housekeeping chores in the laboratories to experiments involving applications of Bio-Chemistry and Physics. It is the variety of activities and the calibre of the students involved which are fused by the ardent interest of Fr. Garber into a fine extracurricular activity. Past graduates of the Science Program at the Prep indicate that this activity was very influential in the early years of their scientific development.

THE PREP BAND

Under the energetic and enthusiastic direction of Mr. Robert Hall, Prep musicians have continued to further a tradition of musical proficiency. Performing a variety of scores from classical to modern, the band entertained a representative audience at its annual Christmas and Spring Concerts. Students in this activity receive the respect of all members of the Prep community for their tireless efforts put forth in daily early morning practices, afternoon sectionals, and Saturday lessons. The Jazz Band remains unique for its fine style and the talent of its dedicated members.

The German Club

The German Club, moderated by Mr. Michael Masko, provides its members with opportunities to attend German films or to take trips to German restaurants. Its major activity is the German-American exchange program which begins with correspondence between participants and finishes with the exchange trips during the spring and summer.

The club members feel that their knowledge of the world has increased and that they have gained much from the fulfilling and interesting experience of the exchange.

The French Club

The French Club, moderated by Mr. Raffa, is composed of students who are interested in pursuing aspects of French culture outside of class. Members attend film festivals as well as visit restaurants to sample authentic French cuisine. An important part of this club is the French Exchange Program. Nine students from Ormesson, France lived with Prep students during August, 1981. The Prep partners will go to France for the second phase of the exchange in June.

The Spanish Club

The Spanish Club, under the direction of Mr. Mendez, gives students the opportunity to experience aspects of Spanish culture that can not be experienced in the classroom. The club sponsors films and field trips that are related to many aspects of Spanish life. Also, trips to Spanish or Mexican restaurants are not uncommon. The major event in the club is an annual trip to Mexico during the Easter vacation period.

DRAMATICS

This year many difficulties beset the efforts of the Drama Club. Resignations of key people, as well as many technical problems, postponed this year's production until the end of March.

Despite these difficulties, the dramatics staff, under the direction of Mr. Martin Blair, S.J., of the English Department and Miss Julia Rogers of the Fine Arts Department, has made remarkable progress. The staff members' enthusiasm and ability are more than adequately represented in the accompanying photographs.

This year's production was the "The Mousetrap" by Agatha Christie. Although it was a sufficient challenge to the talents of the club, the play was done very well in all aspects. The group performed the play several times, and it was well received by many different audiences.

CHESS TEAM

This year the Prep Chess Team once again added to its already great collection of honors. It will also valiantly attempt to regain the State and National Championships. Members led by moderator Mr. Vito Trimarco include returning Seniors Louis Miller, Andrew Costigan, Tom Leonard, Roland Thorpe, Michael Newcomb, and Vinnie Pearson. The remainder of the team is comprised of Juniors William Bora, Pat Quigley, and Freshman Paul McLaughlin. Due to the team's dedication and long hours of practice, it is certain to continue the tradition of success and maintain its position of prestige at St. Joe's Prep.

FORENSICS

The Forensics Club has two teams, one for speech, the other for debate. The speech club consists of several categories: declamation, persuasive, informative, and extemporaneous speech.

The teams belong to the Pennsylvania High School Speech League and the Philadelphia Catholic Forensics League and usually compete here in the Delaware Valley but each year the team goes to Harvard University where they compete in a national contest. The moderator this year is Mr. Raffa. The Varsity Debators for this year are John Bonanni, Guy-Louis Ciarrocchi, Andrew Costigan, Albert LaSpada, Louis Miller, Patrick Quigley, and Piroz Rahmat-Alahi.

LIBRARY CLUB

A library is essential to the running of any school. It provides valuable resources to facilitate the completion of assignments and research, while at the same time giving students a place to relax and enjoy their free time. The Library Club at the Prep is a unique and special organization dedicated to the efficient use and maintenance of library materials and collections. The Library Club itself is made up of 30 dedicated students who give a few hours of their time each week to help the other students and faculty of this school. They perform many library duties such as shelving, cataloging and typing shelf cards. In addition to these resources, the library has at its disposal sophisticated audio-visual equipment which is maintained and utilized by a special group of aides known as the AV staff. They spend a great deal of time after school and on weekends videotaping school events and activities such as football games and swim meets.

The importance and constant dedication of this group is often forgotten. Without their assistance, coupled with the guidance of the librarian, Mrs. Robbins, and library para-professional, Mrs. DiPaul, the library could not exist as we now know it, an indispensable part of the Prep.

BLACK CULTURE CLUB

The Black Culture Club, headed by Mr. Charlie Ginn, its Moderator, and Melvyn Frazier, its President, allows all to share in the appreciation of Blacks and their culture. They sponsor events such as dances and trips. They also feature guest speakers who intend to deepen knowledge of and awareness of Black Cultural Heritage. It is truly fortunate that the Prep has such an organization which both brings Blacks together and which extends their achievements to all of the Prep community.

BOOSTERS

The Boosters Club provides an outlet for the Prep spirit that characterizes an enthusiastic student body. The club organizes rallies to support the various Prep athletic teams, and distributes its unique brand of propaganda throughout the building to advertise upcoming events. Under the direction of its moderator, Mr. James McGlynn, the club seeks to give each student a strong sense of belonging through the support of Prep activities.

The most important activity sponsored by the Boosters Club in the 1981-1982 school year was the first pep rally held in the Kelly Gymnasium in September. The rally was the product of the ideas of many people from faculty and staff, and the members of the Boosters. The presentation showed imagination, creativity, and humor. The spontaneity and the enjoyment of the rally carried both participants and observers through the chill of fall sports.

The Boosters Club publicized sports and activities throughout the year, and lent its support to the Prep in many ways, both visual and vocal. Without the Boosters, the Prep would certainly be a different place for all concerned.

PRE-PREP

Pre-Prep, the largest division of the Prep's social service program, entered its twelfth year in the fall of 1981. The program runs from early October to March, every Saturday morning, providing instruction for eighth grade students from schools across the city. Tutoring is provided by Prep students in Reading and Mathematics.

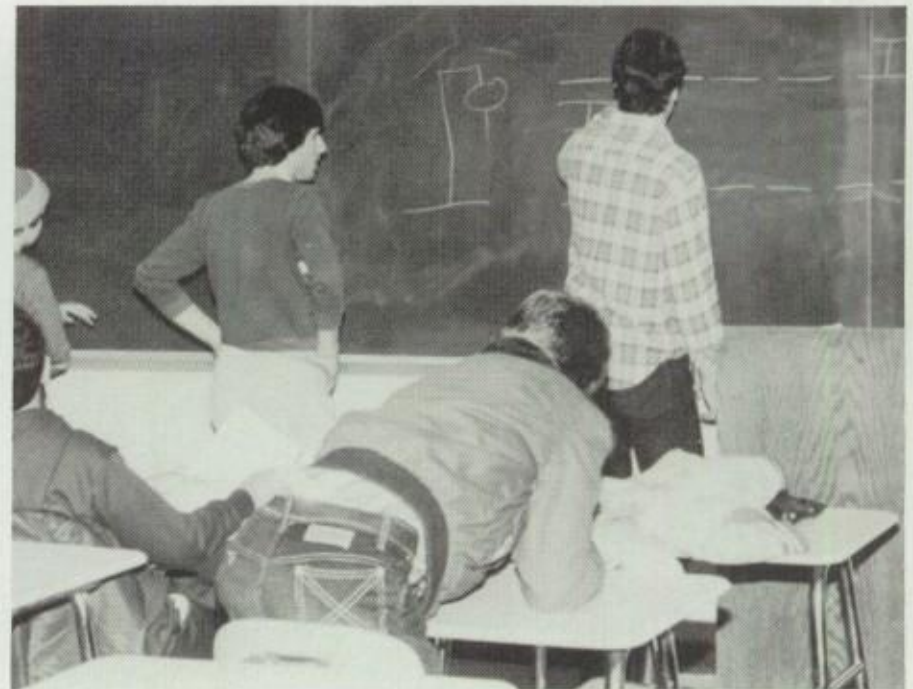

Rev. Vincent Taggart, S.J., director of Community Service Programs and Assistant Director of Admissions, serves as coordinator, and student director Michael Feighan (Class of 1982) schedules and trains tutors in the program. Not only is this program beneficial for the students who attend, but it also presents an opportunity for leadership to the Prep students involved, and encourages the growth of personal maturity.

THE CHRONICLE LITERARY MAGAZINE

In maintaining the Prep tradition of quality, The Chronicle has continued to bring to the school a reflection of the literary talent that is so much of the Prep. With the Editor, John Kearns, and the Moderator, Mr. William O'Brien, the '82 publication has demonstrated the integration of both humor and aesthetic values in the style and layout that can only enhance the readers' experience. It continues to provide an excellent opportunity for those students with interest and talent to exercise and improve their abilities. The efforts and dedication of all who have contributed to this year's publication must be commended as a job well done.

Mr. O'Brien, John Kearns, John Bersin, and Joe Stark look at the issue in progress.

Oh no! Not that story!

Well, this is the way we did it last year.

THE HAWKLET

The Hawklet, under the direction of moderator Rev. Gerald V. O'Connor and Editor-in-Chief Joseph Locala, functions as the Prep's main campus newspaper. The paper, although not published as frequently this year as in some previous years, developed a high degree of quality and professionalism. The Hawklet combined good use of photography with expanded layouts to produce an interesting and well organized publication.

This newspaper served primarily as a source of news and sports reports, but several new columns were also added. Thought provoking editorials stirred students to respond with numerous letters concerning the Prep, the nation, and the world.

Students appreciated the work of the newspaper staff and were eager to see new editions.

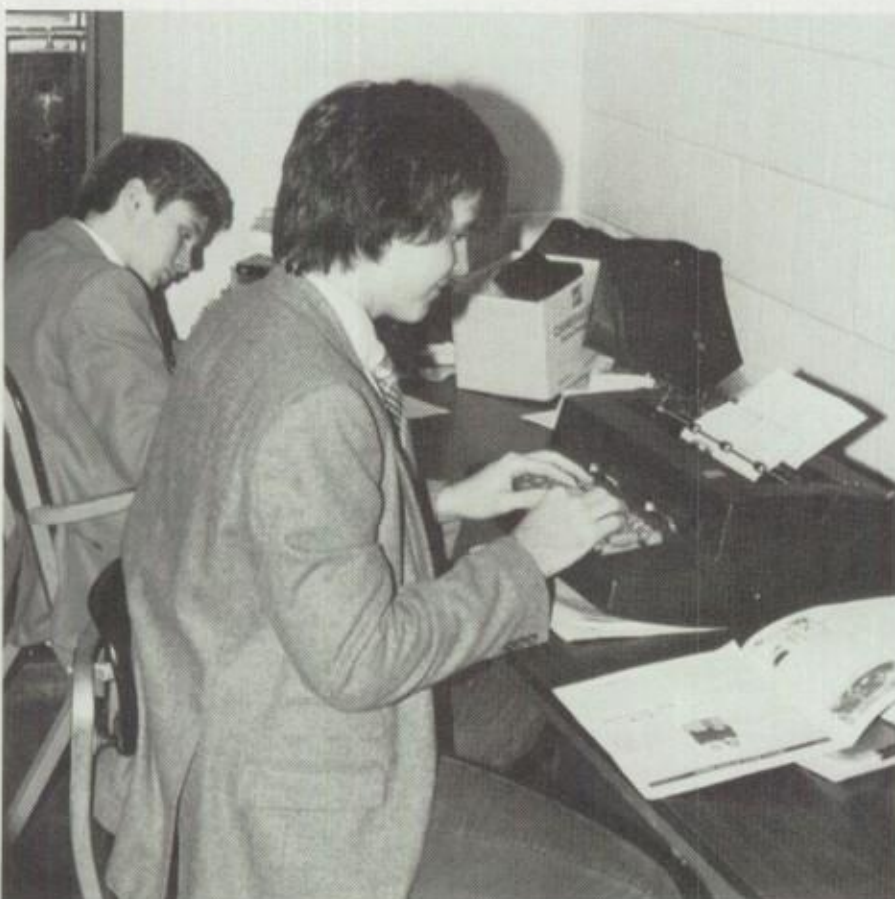

The Hawklet has succeeded in rallying interest and support for many Prep organizations and newly formed clubs. It has produced both information and entertainment and offered a foothold for aspiring young journalists. However, the Hawklet's appeal does not stop at the Prep. Last year, a newspaper exchange was established with over two-hundred other high schools throughout the United States. Through the hard work of the entire staff the Hawklet has introduced a new vitality to Prep journalism.

FR. DAVID SAUTER ASSUMES POSITION OF PRESIDENT

St. Joseph's Prep is pleased to welcome our new President, Fr. David Sauter, S.J. Father comes to us from Georgetown Prep, where he served as Headmaster for nine years. The position of Headmaster at G.P. encompasses the duties of our Dean of Studies and also includes the task of student recruiting and the hiring of new faculty members. At G.P., he initiated a program to compose syllabi for all of the academic courses. He was also very pleased by the work done with faculty relations and communication with individual departments.

Fr. Sauter was raised in Haddonfield, N.J., and attended Bishop Eustace H.S. He studied at Loyola Univ. in Chicago, where he received a B.A. in philosophy and a graduate degree in English. He also holds graduate degrees from Woodstock College and Columbia Teacher's College. Father has been a member of the St. Joseph's Prep Board of Trustees for two years.

Father officially assumed his position as President on Aug. 21, 1981. He commented that his first impression of the Prep was one of

CHRONICLE YEARBOOK

The staff of the 1982 Chronicle Yearbook has attempted to present to the student body a lasting memorial of Saint Joseph's Preparatory School and the Class of 1982. Through words, photographs, and illustrations this yearbook tries to capture as many aspects of Prep life and the Prep community as possible.

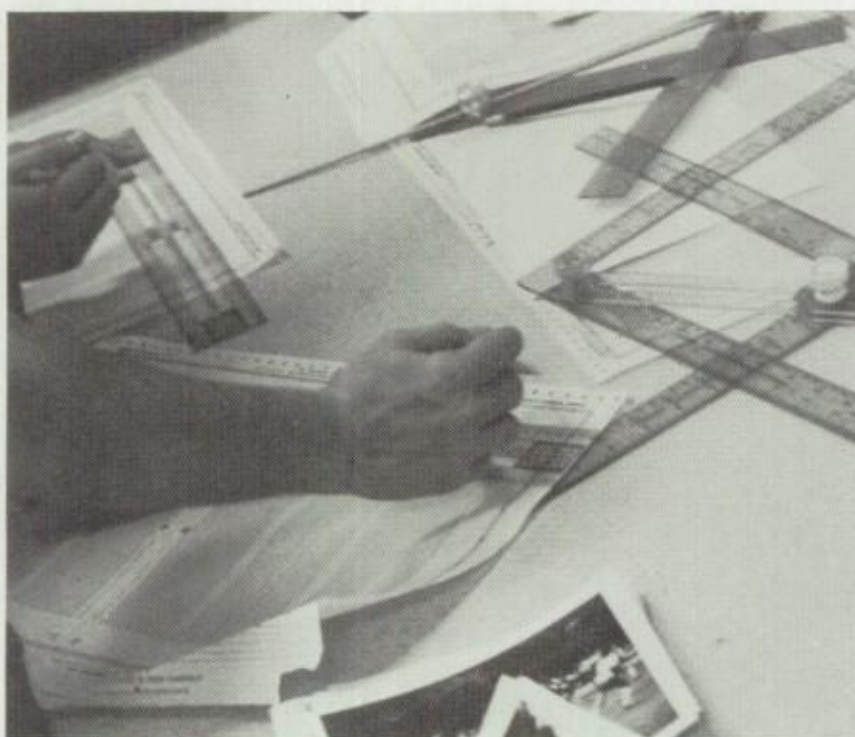

This has been a year of transition for the yearbook and its staff. The editors and the moderator, Mr. Henry V. Bender, were all new to their respective positions. Mr. Bender has brought a new vitality to the moderator's post. Since August of last year, the editors and he have spent many hours learning, working, and even pugnaciously debating the mechanics of the yearbook. The renovation of our office symbolizes the rejuvenation of the yearbook as a whole. Mr. Bender has approached his role as yearbook moderator with the same vigor which is characteristic of the Ignatian ideal. It is because of this that we have come to respect him as a leader, but more importantly, a friend. Without his invaluable help which he has so generously given, the yearbook would not be what it immortalizes. Credit must also be attributed long hours of energetic service to make this book possible. We would also like to thank all members of the faculty, staff, parents, and the administration who in any way added to the overall quality of the 1982 Chronicle. Without these dedicated workers, there would be no publication in your hands now!

The format of this year's Chronicle has been designed to facilitate further reference, particularly for the members of the Class 1982. It is the hope of those connected with the production of this yearbook that this volume will be a living tribute to all those who were able to make our own Prep experience possible.

THE HISTORY OF THE CHRONICLE

The first Prep yearbook was never known as such, because when it was published in 1901, the Prep was a division of St. Joseph's College (now University) and the two shared facilities, administration, faculty, sports, and other extracurricular activities, including the yearbook, the College "Annual". The "Annual" was first issued in 1901, the Golden Anniversary of the College, and continued every year until 1913 with the sole exception of 1906. Exactly one hundred pages long, the first edition was a collection of poems, short stories, and essays (all in extremely small print) contributed by students of both the College and the Prep school.

The 1901 edition lacked photographs, and illustrations were kept to a bare minimum. It also lacked a permanent staff and corresponding staff quarters. It was published with existing funds in the school treasury, surplus from the operating budget of the preparatory division.

Although it lacked many of the features of a modern yearbook, it did create many Prep institutions. The first recorded public use of the school colors of crimson and gray appeared on the cover of the 1901 "Annual", and an early version of the school seal was shown on the cover of the 1903 edition. This seal was developed from the coat of arms of the House of Loyola, and served as a seal for all Jesuit institutions in the area. A revised version, from which the present seals of the College and Prep are derived, appeared in 1913.

Between 1913 and 1917, no College Annual was published because of the decrease in enrollment caused by the First World War. After the Armistice, the new students of the Preparatory division began writing their own yearbook, the short lived "Prep Annual", a sign of the increasing independence of the Prep, a trend that would eventually lead to the separation of the Preparatory and College divisions in 1922. Although the 1918 "Annual" was the first to include class pictures of the graduating seniors, a true senior section as we know it including individual portraits did not come into being until the following year, 1919.

1920 saw the inception of the Chronicle Literary Magazine, an activity that would drain much of the manpower needed for the "Annual". As a result, there was no official yearbook during the years 1920-1925, and the fourth, or June, issue of the Chronicle served as a temporary yearbook. The "Prep Annual" was briefly re-instated in 1926, but was merged with the Chronicle Magazine during the tight years of the Great Depression. Thus, since 1934, every issue of the yearbook has been called the Chronicle, even though the two activities have separate budgets and staffs.

COMMUNISM GUILD

The Guild Public Speaking Team

Walter G. Arader, Jr., '38 Joseph A. Fitzmeyer, '38

Faculty Moderator
Mr. Gerard A. Haggerty, S.J.

This year saw a new branch of the Sodality swing into action, and action it was, for it was Catholic Action. It was the Communism Guild. Since Communism is advancing so far and so fast in America, it was determined that St. Joseph's Prep should not take a back seat and do nothing about it.

Early in the year plans were drawn up by Mr. Haggerty, S.J., for the campaign against the growing menace of atheistic communism. In addition to the talks he gave to the Prep students on communism and related topics, Mr. Haggerty trained a public speaking team to speak on the subject of communism in the parishes and before various Catholic clubs of Philadelphia. Communism was to be attacked in four phases by these four speakers of the Guild: Joseph Fitzmeyer, who would deal with "Communism and Its Principles"; Joseph Cody, "Communism and Its Practice"; Walter Arader, "Communism and Youth"; and Terence Toland, "Communism and the Catholic Church".

During the course of the year, these talks were delivered to the Students' Mothers' Club of the Prep, to the Holy Name Society of the Assumption Parish, to the Ladies of DeSoto, to the Holy Name Society of the Immaculate Conception Parish, Germantown, and to the Knights of Columbus.

The successful beginning of this tremendously important work leads us to hope that the Communism Guild will become a permanent and thriving extra-curricular activity and that it will continue with even greater success to popularize Catholic social doctrine.

Arader, Cody, Toland, Fitzmeyer

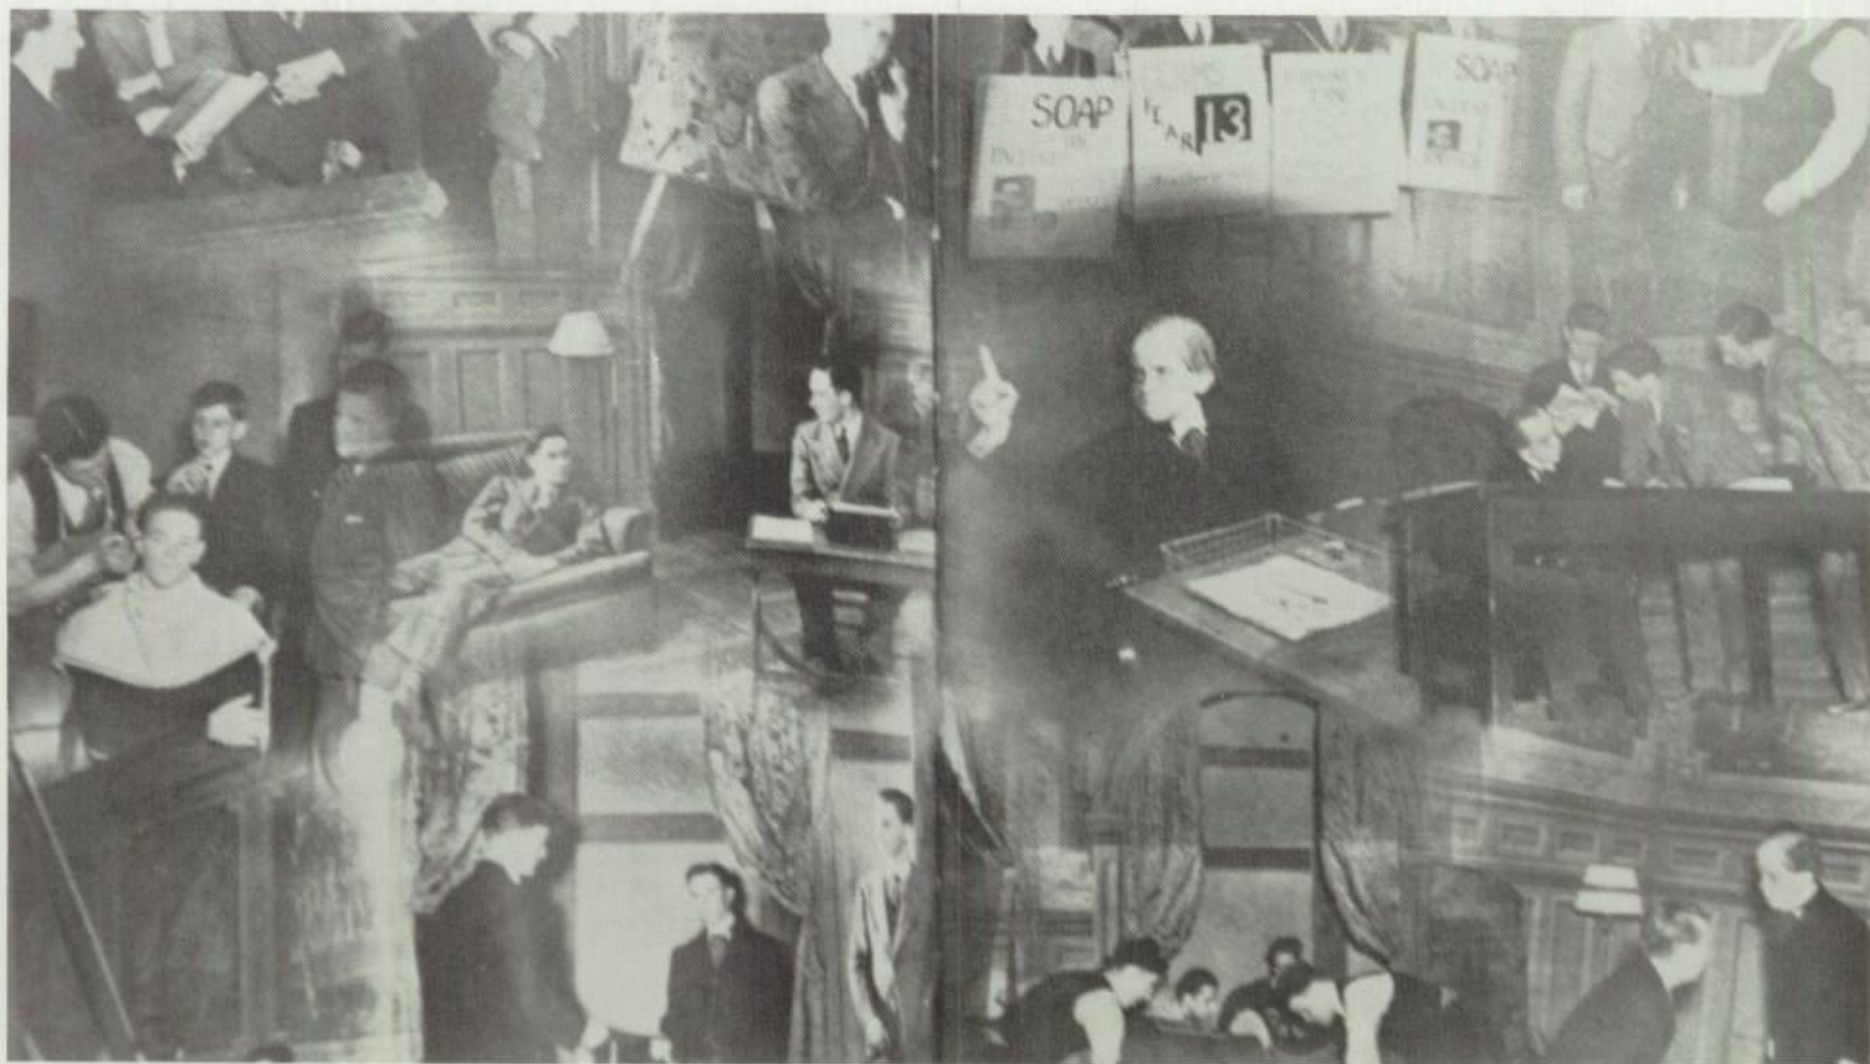

The time period of 1934-1965 saw constant growth and expansion of the Chronicle. Yearbooks during the Thirties and Forties averaged 130+ pages in length, many with twenty or more pages of advertising, the major source of income in those years. Coverage included events at the Prep, as well as civic events in the surrounding city. Since extra-curricular activities were relatively few in number, most of the space was taken up with photos of the graduating class, the faculty, and the physical plant of the Prep. There was even enough room to print the entire text of the year's school play, performed by "The Cape and Sword Society".

Many of the extra-curriculars that once graced the pages of the Chronicle are no longer with us. The most notable of these were the St. Ignatius Club, the Prep Sodality, the Prep Orchestra, the Prep Marching Band, and the Communism Guild. A few even had humor sections, complete with crossword puzzles.

Photography and illustration gradually replaced much of the written text found in early yearbooks. Faculty pictures and class photos of underclassmen were introduced in 1926, and shortly thereafter group photos of Prep sports teams. During the Thirties candid shots were incorporated, and in the 1940 edition silhouettes made their debut.

During the decade of the 1950's, many award-winning "Chronicles" were centered on religious themes. The centennial issue of 1951, published on the 100th anniversary of the Prep, featured the theme "The Christian Education of Youth", based on a papal encyclical of the same name by Pope Pius XI. The 1955 edition centered on "St. Joseph the Carpenter" and the 1956 "Chronicle" was entitled "Seeds of Contemplation".

During those years the yearbook office was located on the third floor of Villager Hall, better known as the Thompson St. Building. During the fire of 1966, it was saved by its location on the cooler side of the nearby firedoor and escaped major damage. At the height of the blaze, photographs were rescued from the burning Stiles Street Building where the old photography lab was located. Except for minor delays, the Chronicle of 1966 was published and delivered on time.

Since 1969, the yearbook office has been located on the third floor of the new Prep, next to the entrance gallery, and from there have come the Chronicles of the past twelve years. Advertising has now been totally cut from the yearbook, and it is now entirely funded from the Prep budget. The 125th anniversary edition, the 1976 Chronicle, continued the long Prep tradition of excellence as a national award winner.

It is our hope that this, the Forty-Seventh edition of the Chronicle yearbook will join others of past years in portraying life here at the Prep, now in its 131st year, and will serve as an assemblage of fond memories in the years ahead.

SODALITY-CENTRAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Seated: Ayres, Archer, Fr. Murphy, S.J., Sullinger, McWilliams. Standing: Conlin, Kerylo, Eickman, Beck, Larkin, O'Rourke.

SODALITY

Through the zealous efforts of our Student Counselor, Father James M. Murphy, S.J., this year's Sodality has both increased its numbers and widened the field of its activity. As assistants in the direction of the numerous activities of the Sodality, Father Murphy chose Mr. Haggerty, S.J., moderator of the Catholic Action Committee; Mr. Baker, S.J., and Mr. Barton, S.J., moderators of the Sophomore and Freshman Sodality respectively. The Central Committee, whose members were also chairmen of the various committees and which was composed entirely of seniors, was as follows:

President (also Chairman of the Catholic Action Committee):	W. Ayres
First Assistant President (also Chairman of the Publicity Committee):	D. Sullivan
Second Assistant President (also Chairman of the Revision Committee):	J. Sullinger
Secretary (also Chairman of the Divine Office):	R. Ayres
Treasurer (also Chairman of the Mission Committee):	E. McWilliams
First Counselor (also Chairman of the Eucharistic Committee):	F. Eickman
Second Counselor (also Chairman of the Literary Committee):	J. O'Rourke

HOMECOMING 1981

For forty-eight years an evening in November has been special to all members of the Prep community. For on such an occasion the parents, students, alumni, benefactors, friends and faculty of the Prep have gathered together to share an evening in a social setting. While the occasion is primarily designed by the Mothers' Club of St. Joseph's Prep to be the focal point of the year's fund-raising efforts, it is also intended to provide an opportunity for all who love the Prep to support their Alma Mater in this great family endeavor.

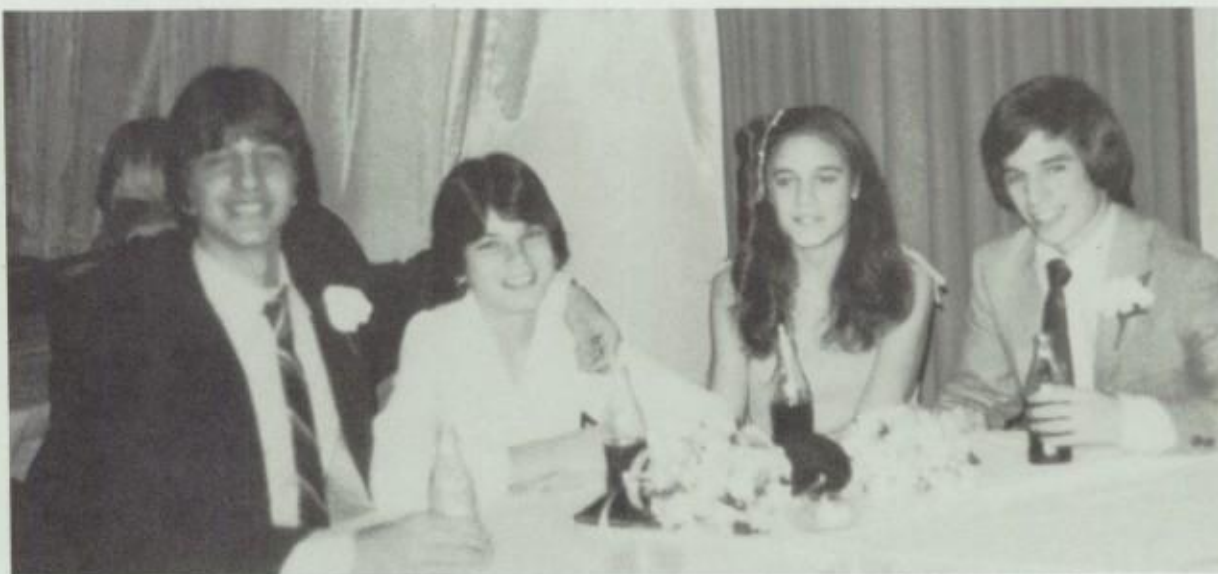

This year on November twenty-seventh at the Philadelphia Centre Hotel, the forty-eighth annual Homecoming was held. As the pictures portray, this, the greatest event of the Prep's social year, was ideal for dancing, partying, and renewing past acquaintances. The success of the evening was measured not merely by the generous contributions of the Prep family, but also by the contagious enthusiasm which will certainly sustain all Preppers until Homecoming 1982.

LITURGIES

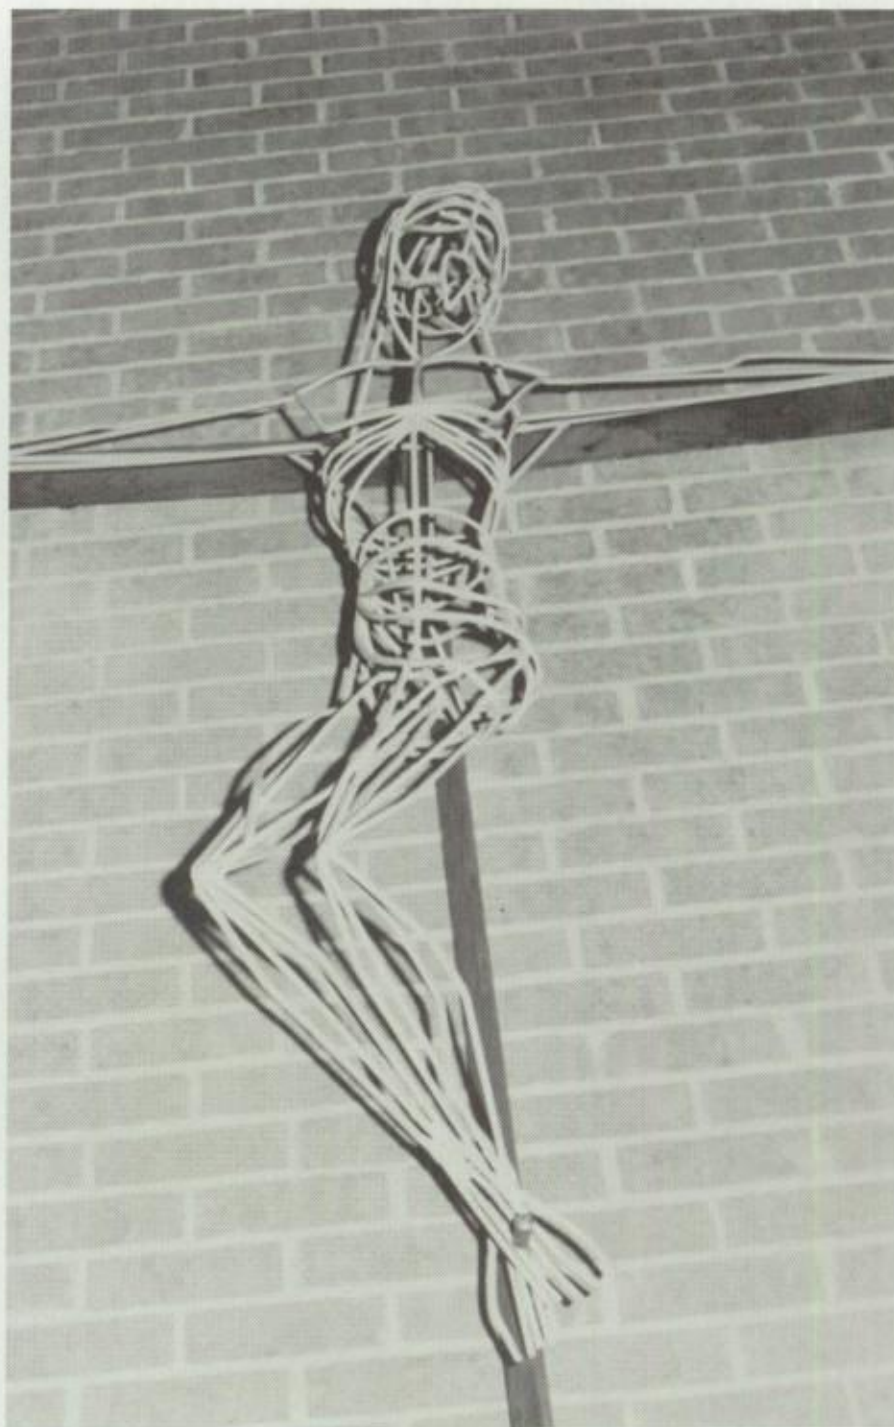

Important parts of the Prep, as a Catholic institution, are the various liturgies which we share throughout the year. One of the first traditions Prep students encounter is the Mass of the Holy Spirit. It is at this Mass that we, as a community, express our hopes, fears, and prayers for the coming year. We continue this community effort at liturgical celebrations at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter. Individually, classes celebrate masses in the school chapel and on days of retreat.

This year we had the privilege of experiencing the Mass in which Rev. Michael French, S.J. took his final vows. Before a gathering of nine-hundred, Fr. French promised to continue to lead a life of poverty, chastity, and obedience; to follow the teachings of the Society's founder, Saint Ignatius Loyola; and to observe special loyalty to the Pope.

All of the liturgies are arranged through the Campus Ministry Office, which is staffed by Rev. Joseph F. Simmons, S.J., the Prep's Chaplain, and his assistant Sr. Kathleen Woody, G.N.S.H. The Campus Ministry attempts to involve students as much as possible in an effort to bring all of us closer to God through the Church.

ALMOST ANYTHING GOES 1981

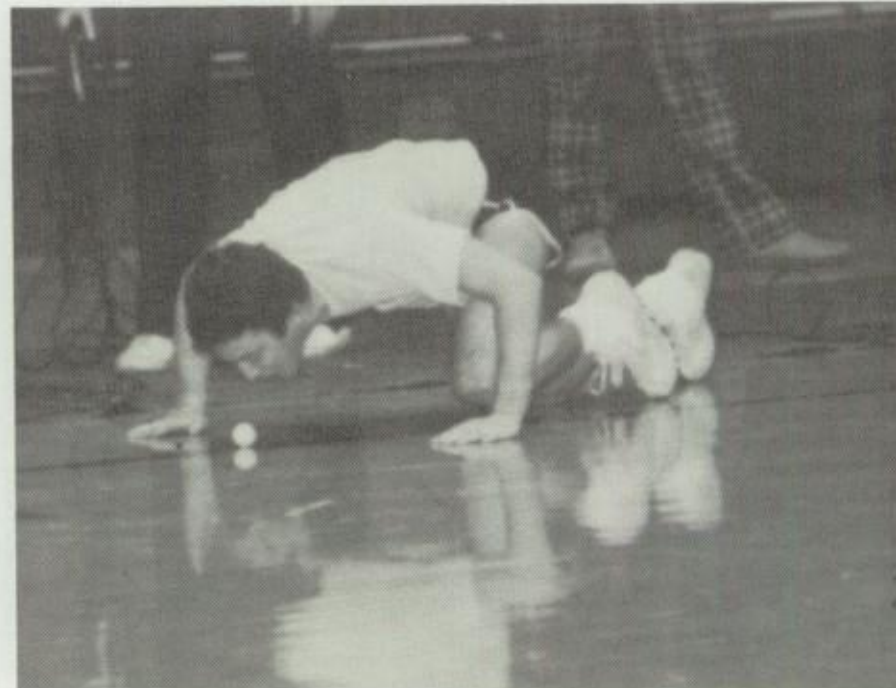

The third annual mid-year madness of Almost Anything Goes was staged under the able direction of Mr. William A. Mullen on Tuesday, December the twenty-second in the Prep's Kelly Gymnasium. The mini-Olympiad, marking the last day of school before the Christmas break, pitted the senior and freshman classes against the sophomore and junior classes. The contest included basketball, tug of war and ping-pong ball rolling, where students had to roll ping-pong balls across the gym floor without using their hands or feet. The competition, however, was not limited to only students, members of the faculty joined in as well with the student-faculty basketball game. As the event drew to a close, a surprise appearance by Santa Claus, Father Vincent Taggart, contributed to this day of fun and entertainment in the spirit of holiday celebration. Hopefully this unique tradition established by Mr. Mullen will continue to grow and remain as the embodiment of the enthusiasm that goes along with the anticipation of the Christmas Holidays.

BASEBALL

The 1982 St. Joseph's Prep Varsity Baseball Team has brought competitive baseball back to the Prep after a long absence. Although its record was not complete at the time the Chronicle went to press, the hard work and dedication that team members put into their sport were already evident at the early Spring practices. Practices and Home games for the 1982 season were held on Belmont Plateau in Fairmount Park.

The goal of the 1982 Varsity Team is winning the Catholic League Southern Division and the Catholic League Baseball Title.

But outside of League Competition, the team also seeks to foster the skills of cooperation and teamwork that benefit the student both within a sporting context and in his contact with others after he leaves the Prep. One of the main differences between the 1982 team and those of other years is the dedication, the enthusiasm, and the expertise of Coach Joseph Milizia and his assistants. In all, the future of Baseball at the Prep is very bright, and this sport has returned to the position of prominence that it once occupied.

TENNIS

This year's Varsity Tennis Team put many long hours into practice and Catholic League competition in the hopes of capturing the Southern Division crown. Led by Coach Fairchild and Senior Captains Frank Keeley and Mike Carr, the team held practices at "The Lakes" in F.D.R. Park in South Philadelphia, due to the lack of facilities at the Prep. The tennis team has relatively few players. However, what the team lacks in numbers it more than makes up for in the skill and talent of its members. Even though the final record of the team was not known as the Chronicle went to press, there is no doubt that Tennis will remain alive and well at the Prep for many years to come.

GOLF

The 1982 Prep Varsity Golf Team played its season during the last few months of the school year. Under the direction of its coaches, Mr. Michael Cunningham and Mr. Michael Lange, the team practiced several times a week at the Cobbs Creek Golf Course. As the Chronicle went to press this Spring, the team was preparing for competition in the Southern Division of the Catholic League. While the vast majority of Varsity players are Seniors, the large underclassmen turnout for this year's tryouts ensures a strong Golf Team for years to come.
